Dignity, Women, and Immigration Detention

Alice Gerlach
Series: Routledge Studies in Criminal Justice, Borders and Citizenship

This book explores the experience of immigration enforcement for women who have been detained in immigration detention in the UK. Drawing upon in-depth interviews, Gerlach demonstrates how immigration detention violates women’s sense of dignity and considers possible alternatives to the current practice of incarceration.

An accessible and compelling read, this book will appeal to students, scholars and practitioners in criminology, sociology, law, social policy and all those interested in listening to the unheard voices of detained women.

Women of Piracy

Brittany VandeBerg, The University of Alabama, USA
Series: Feminist Criminology

Drawing from an interdisciplinary body of research and data, Women of Piracy employs a criminological lens to explore how women have been involved in, and impacted by, maritime piracy operations from the 16th century to present day piracy off the coast of Somalia. The book challenges and resists popular understandings of women as peripheral to the criminal enterprise of piracy by presenting and analyzing their roles and experiences as victims, perpetrators, and criminal justice actors, showing that women have been, and continue to be, central figures in maritime piracy.

Motherhood, Respectability and Baby-Farming in Victorian and Edwardian London

Joshua Stuart-Bennett, Research Associate at University of Leicester, UK
Series: Routledge Studies in Crime and Society

Motherhood, Respectability & Baby-Farming in Victorian & Edwardian London explores the largely obscured marketplace of motherhood that provided ways for women to manage the stigma of illegitimacy and their respectable identities within Victorian and Edwardian society. It focuses on the extent of women’s ‘dirty work’, when maternal problem management was fundamental to the general maintenance of respectability and, by extension, to Empire and Civilisation.

The Routledge International Handbook on Femicide and Feminicide

Edited by Myrna Dawson, University of Guelph and Saide Mobayed Vega, University of Cambridge
Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This volume explores in depth femicide and feminicide, bringing together our current knowledge on this phenomenon and its prevention. No country is free from femicide/feminicide, which represents the tip of the iceberg in male violence against women and girls. Therefore, it is crucial and timely to better understand how states and their citizens are experiencing and responding to femicide/feminicide globally. Through the work of internationally recognised feminist and grassroots activists, researchers, and academics from around the world, this handbook offers the first in-depth, global examination of the growing social movement to address femicide and feminicide.

Crime Scene Investigation

Roy Fenoff, Jacqueline T. Fish, Charleston Southern University, South Carolina, USA, Larry S. Miller, Edward W. Wallace and Michael C. Braswell, Professor Emeritus, East Tennessee State University, USA

Crime Scene Investigation offers an innovative approach to learning about crime scene investigation, taking the reader from the first response on the crime scene to documenting crime scene evidence and preparing evidence for courtroom presentation. It includes topics not normally covered in other texts, such as forensic anthropology and pathology, entomology, arson and explosives, and the electronic crime scene. Numerous photographs and illustrations complement text material, and a chapter-by-chapter fictional narrative also provides the reader with a qualitative dimension of the crime scene experience.

Psychology of Gang Involvement

Edited by Jane L Wood, Jaimee Mallon and Sarah Frisby-Osman

Series: Routledge Studies in Criminal Behaviour

Psychology of Gangs expands existing knowledge by applying psychological knowledge to gangs, including how gang members think, their mental and emotional wellbeing, and their perceptions of gang involvement, as well as issues relating to gang prevention and intervention strategies. This book offers readers a clearer understanding of the important role that social psychological processes play in the formation and maintenance of gangs and gang membership. It will enhance readers’ understanding of gang members’ social cognition, emotional intelligence, wellbeing, and mental health, as well as how these factors potentially promote and sustain individual gang involvement.

Rural Victims of Crime

Representations, Realities and Responses

Edited by Rachel Hale and Alistair Harkness, Federation University, Australia

Series: Routledge Studies in Rural Criminology

Rural Victims of Crime offers a pioneering sustained assessment of ‘the rural victim’. It does so by examining and analysing the conceptual constructs of a victim and challenging the urban bias of victimisation and victimology in criminological study. Indeed, far too much criminological scholarship is based on the false assumption that rural areas are relatively crime free – and thus free, too, of victims.

This book is an essential and valuable resource for academics, students and practitioners alike in the fields of criminology, criminal justice, rural studies, victimology, geography, sociology and spatiality.

Unmasking the Sexual Offender

Edited by Veronique N. Valliere

Series: Routledge Studies in Criminal Behaviour

This book unmasks the sexual offender by providing clear, comprehensive information about the motivations, techniques, and dynamics of sexual offenders and their behavior. It not only explores the biases and myths that the reader may rely upon to understand deviance, but also explains pathways to offending, the distorted thinking and relating that offenders engage in, and the ways offenders manipulate and exploit others. This book is intended for anyone interested in learning about sexual offenders. It is useful for both professionals and non-professionals, including students, paralegals, victim advocates, and others involved in the criminal justice system or mental health field.

What Is a Criminal?

Answers From Inside the US Justice System

Edited by Katherine S. Gaudet, Associate Director at the University of New Hampshire

Bringing together a collection of essays by writers with diverse knowledge of the US criminal justice system, from those with personal experience in prison and on patrol to scholarly researchers, What Is a Criminal? explores the category of “criminal” through the human stories of those who bear and administer that label. This book performs a rare feat in bringing together the perspectives justice-impacted people, those who work in law enforcement and social services, and scholarly researchers.

Black Iconography and Colonial (re)production at the ICC

Stanley Mwangi Wanjiru

This book explores the reproduction of colonialism at the International Criminal Court (ICC), and examines International criminal law (ICL) vs the Black body through an immersive format of Art, Music, Poetry, and Architecture and post-colonial/critical race theory lens. Taking a multi-disciplinary approach, the book interrogates the operationalization of the Rome statute to detail a Eurocentric hegemony at the core of ICL. It explores how colonialism and slavery have come to shape ICL, exposing the perpetuation of the colonial and evants that it heralds ominous contemporary and future implications for Africa.

Crime, Criminal Justice and Religion: A Critical Appraisal

Edited by Philip Birch, Charles Sturt University, Australia, Conor Murray, Ulster University, UK and Andrew McInnes, Charles Sturt University, Australia

Series: Routledge Studies in Crime and Society

Crime, Criminal Justice and Religion: A Critical Appraisal seeks to bridge a gap in the examination of crime and criminal justice by taking both a historical and contemporary lens to explore the influence of religion. Offering unique perspectives that consider the impact on modern day policy and practice, the book scrutinizes a range of issues such as abortion, hate crime and desistance as well as reflecting upon the influence religion can have on criminal justice professions. The book acts to renew the importance of, and recognise, the influence and impact religion has in terms of how we view and ultimately address crime and deliver criminal justice.

Culture, Diversity, and Criminal Justice: Towards Culturally Safe Criminal Justice Systems

Edited by Workman Alex, Kaddour Ranya and Griffin M. Patricia

This ground-breaking textbook engages readers in conversation about responding to the effects of diversity within formal criminal justice systems in Westernized nation-states. Moving past a binary concept of diversity that involves only race and gender, this book elaborates upon a wide variety of other forms of diversity, including sexuality, disability, mental health, gendered identity, refugees, the young and the ageing, and culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) peoples, with an awareness of how intersecting identities make some people more vulnerable than others.

Criminal Law

Charles P. Nemeth

Criminal Law: Historical, Ethical, and Moral Foundations, 3rd edition, blends legal and moral reasoning in the examination of crimes and explores the history relating to jurisprudence and roots of criminal law. In order to fully grasp criminal law concepts, students must go beyond mere rote memorization of the penal code and endeavor to understand where the laws originate from and how they have developed. This book fosters discussions of controversial issues and delivers abridged case law decisions that target the essence of appellate rulings.

Ethical Dilemmas in International Criminological Research

Edited by Michael Adorjan, University of Calgary, Canada and Rosemary Ricciardelli, Memorial University of Newfoundland, Canada

Series: Routledge Advances in Criminology

This new book brings together a fresh collection of leading international scholars tackling ethical dilemmas in criminological research. Contributors address how they have experienced and addressed ethical issues in their research, and how they have balanced the benefits and harms of doing such research for both the researcher and the researched.

This book is essential reading for junior scholars just starting out with original research, as well as more seasoned researchers looking to gain insights into the challenges of criminological research in other cultural contexts. It is also instructive reading for students taking courses in criminological and social research methods.

Fatal Grievances
Forecasting and Preventing Active Killer Threats in School, Campus, and Workplace Settings

Gregory M. Vecchi, Missouri Western State University, Mary Ann Markey, Grand Canyon University and Jeffrey A. Daniels, University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Active killer threats frequently dominate the headlines with stories of seemingly random mass killings in school, campus, and workplace settings. Nearly all of the attacks are over before the police can respond, leaving unanswered questions as to why these attacks happen and what can be done to prevent them. Fatal Grievances: Forecasting and Preventing Active Killer Threats in School, Campus, and Workplace Settings takes a proactive view of active killer threat management and resolution with the goal of preventing the attack before it occurs.

Gendered Labour, Everyday Security and Migration
An Examination of Domestic Work and Domestic Workers’ Experiences in Singapore and Hong Kong

Shih Joo Tan
Series: Routledge Studies in Criminal Justice, Borders and Citizenship

Drawing on original empirical research from Singapore and Hong Kong, Gendered Labour, Everyday Security and Migration interrogates women migrant domestic workers’ experiences of work and workplace exploitation.

This book addresses the limited research literature that examines the extent to which regulatory or criminal justice responses are relevant to, and utilised by, women migrant domestic workers in their everyday negotiation of safe work and offers a unique contribution to the field.

LBGTQ+ Crime and Victimization

Edited by Frances P. Bernat, Texas A&M International University, USA

This book provides research and analysis on an understudied topic: the LBGTQ+ community as victims and offenders. Most publications focus on LBGTQ+ history and the community’s movement towards equality and acceptance in society and in law. A focus on how the criminal justice system victimizes and marginalizes LBGTQ+ persons is needed.

This book will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of Criminology, Sociology, Law, and Gender Studies. It was originally published as a special issue of the journal Women & Criminal Justice

Transito: The Truth behind the Big-Money Robberies

Hennie Lochner and Peet van Staden
Series: Routledge/UNISA Press Series

This book is an important resource for the cash in transit (CIT) companies, financial services industries and criminal justice system. With one of the authors having used convicts of CIT crimes as participants for a PhD study, he solicited data from the lived experiences of CIT robbers that reveal their modus operandi, which is crucial to combat these robberies. The authors reveal how CIT robbers meticulously plan and execute their ambushes collaborating with the sophisticated network of accomplices.

The book is thus a timely publication that provides information to combat CIT crimes.

Cannabis Criminology

Johannes Wheeldon and Jon Heidt, University of Fraser Valley, Canada

Series: Drugs, Crime and Society

Cannabis Criminology explores the prohibition, decriminalization, and liberalization of cannabis policy through the lens of criminological and sociological theory, essential concepts, and cannabis research. It does so by focusing on five thematic areas: law, society, and social control; police and policing; race, ethnicity, and criminalization; the economics of cannabis use; and cannabis use and criminal behavior. The book links key areas in past and contemporary cannabis research to criminological and sociological theories, including key concepts, emergent concerns, and new directions.

Disneyization of Drug Use

Understanding Atypical Intoxication in Party Zones

Tim Turner, Coventry University, UK

Series: Drugs, Crime and Society

Disneyization of Drug Use offers an innovative, ground-up understanding of the atypical patterns of illegal drug use that often permeate multi-day party zones such as nightlife tourist resorts and music festivals. Drawing on ethnographic research conducted over three summers in Ibiza, the book contextualizes the drug and alcohol-related experiences of tourists and seasonal workers operating in the island’s infamously hedonistic party spaces.

Using Operation Donnie Brasco to Understand the Complex Trauma of Deep Cover

Daniel M. Rudofossi, Chief Psychologist NY & NJ Detectives Crime Clinic & Administrative Clinician for US DOJ, DEA & EAP, USA
NYPD “Cop Doc” Rudofossi delves into what it meant to live as a deep-cover operative through narratives with Joe Pistone, the FBI agent who spent six years living as Donnie Brasco as a member of the Bonanno crime family. This unique look at the costs and successes of tracking, infiltrating, arresting, and convicting those involved in organized crime is a groundbreaking read for law enforcement personnel, criminal justice, homeland security, law students, police psychologists, as well as anyone fascinated by the world of organized crime.

Demystifying Modern Slavery

Rose Broad and David Gadd
Series: Routledge Studies in Crime and Society
Who are the perpetrators of modern slavery? Why do they exploit others and what might be done to stop them? Reporting on the first primary study of modern slavery offenders, this book depicts the findings of in-depth interviews with people accused of, and convicted for, modern slavery offences. This book will be of interest to a wide range of students, policymakers and practitioners concerned with modern slavery, human trafficking, border control and immigration, globalization and inequality, as well as the more discipline-focused criminological audiences concerned with why people commit crimes.

The Rise and Rise of Illegal Ticket Touting
An Ethnography of Deviant Entrepreneurship

Alessandro Moretti
Series: Routledge Studies in Organised Crime
This book presents an ethnographic study of contemporary ticket touts in the UK. The Rise and Rise of Illegal Ticket Touting sheds light on the world of ticketing and delivers an authentic picture of the individuals involved, of their methods, values, and motivations for performing ticket touting as an organised, entrepreneurial deviant activity.

The Dark Mafia
Organized Crime in the Age of the Internet

Antonio Nicaso and Marcel Danesi
This book explores the way in which organized crime gangs have adapted and evolved in sync with ever-expanding technologies, using these not only to update their popular image, but also the ways in which they conduct their secretive operations.

To better understand the new generation of criminal actors, it is becoming ever more urgent to understand the new technologies and how the criminals are utilizing them. The Dark Mafia is an engaging and accessible introduction to understanding virtual organized crime and will appeal to students and scholars of criminology, sociology, policing, and all those interested in the digital age of the mafia.
Biosecurity, Economic Collapse, the State to Come
Political Power in the Pandemic and Beyond
Christos Boukalas, Professor at Northumbria Law School, UK
Series: Directions and Developments in Criminal Justice and Law
This book offers an in-depth critical account of the state’s responses to the biosecurity and the economic crises. It is thus the first study to address both crises ensuing from the pandemic, and to synthesise the responses to them in a comprehensive account of political power. What kind of state emerges from the pandemic? The pandemic caused two crises, in biosecurity and in the economy. The state was forced to tackle both; but subduing one inevitably exacerbated the other. Emerging from the impossible task of handling two conflicting crises is a new form of state, the state to come.

11th Edition
Crime Prevention
Approaches, Practices, and Evaluations
Steven P. Lab, Bowling Green State University, Ohio, USA
Bowling Green State University Bowling Green State
University, Bowling Green, Ohio, USA
Crime Prevention, Eleventh Edition, meets the needs of students and instructors for engaging, evidence-based, impartial coverage of interventions that can reduce or prevent deviance. This edition examines the entire gamut of prevention, from physical design to developmental prevention to identifying high-risk individuals to situational initiatives to partnerships and beyond. Strategies include primary prevention measures designed to prevent conditions that foster deviance; secondary prevention measures directed toward persons or conditions with a high potential for deviance; and tertiary prevention measures to deal with persons who have already committed crimes.

Disassembling Police Culture
Mike Rowe
Series: Routledge Frontiers of Criminal Justice
Drawing on six years of ethnographic research, this book critically examines police culture, exploring police behaviours, decision-making and actions. Rather than looking for culture or identifying how culture affects behaviours, this book identifies factors that influence the decisions and actions, including technology, targets, training, timing, intelligence, geography and supervision, thus reassembling police culture much as Bruno Latour sought to reassemble the social. An accessible and compelling read, this book will appeal to students and scholars of policing, criminology, sociology, law, politics and all those interested in the day-to-day lives of police officers.

Eliminating Online Child Sexual Abuse Material
Rick Brown, Australian Institute of Criminology
Series: Crime Science Series
This book uses a crime science approach to explore the ways in which child sexual abuse material (CSAM) can be tackled. It describes the CSAM ecosystem, focusing on the ways in which it is produced, distributed and consumed and explores different interventions that can be used to tackle each issue. Eliminating Online Child Sexual Abuse Material provides a methodical approach to unpacking and understanding this growing problem, identifies approaches that have been shown to work and offers alternatives that might be tried.

Protest Policing and Human Rights
A Dialogical Approach

Michael Smith
Series: Routledge Frontiers of Criminal Justice
This book examines protest policing and the toolbox of options available to police commanders in response. Drawing on two contrasting case studies, the policing of the badger cull in South-West England and an English Defence League (EDL) march in Liverpool, this book explores the experiences of police commanders, police liaison officers, protesters, counterdemonstrators, members of local businesses and other interested parties.

An accessible and compelling read, this book will appeal to students, scholars and practitioners of policing, politics, criminology, sociology, human rights and all those interested in how protests are policed.

Sexuality in the Swedish Police
From Gay Jokes to Pride Parades

Jens Rennstam, Lund University, Sweden

Sexuality in the Swedish Police is based on the experiences of lesbian, gay and bisexual police officers and the author’s observations of police work. Written at the intersection of organizational, gender and police studies, the book analyses how processes of exclusion and inclusion of LGB sexuality coexist in the Swedish police, how these processes are related to the culture and characteristics of police work, and how police management attempts to create an inclusive organisation. How and under what conditions does the exclusion and inclusion of LGB officers and LGB sexuality take place in the Swedish police?

Prison Segregation
The Limits of Law
Ellie Brown, Eleanor Brown completed her Ph.D from University of Cambridge.
Series: Directions and Developments in Criminal Justice and Law
Prison Segregation: The Limits of Law explores the use of segregation in English prisons by examining how law is used and experienced, and how human rights are upheld. It draws on empirical research, through interviews with staff and prisoners, to understand how law ‘works’ (or not) in a site of the prison, which is traditionally characterised by real imbalances of power. The book is multi-disciplinary in nature and will appeal to those with an interest in law, sociology, criminology and psychology.

Promoting Wellness and Resiliency in Correctional Officers
Edited by Hayden P. Smith, University of South Carolina, USA
Correctional officers face considerable stress, risk and danger that lead to poor physical and mental health outcomes. This book features an examination of a combined 11,313 correctional officers and 42 of their family members in the US, Canada, and Europe. It presents universal themes that impact the safety, wellbeing, and resiliency of correctional officers, along with positive outcomes related to evidence-based programs that maximize health in the correctional workplace. This book will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of Criminology, Mental Health, Public Policy and Sociology. It was originally published as special issue of Criminal Justice Studies.

The Evolving Protection of Prisoners’ Rights in Europe
Edited by Gaëtan Cliquennois, University of Strasbourg, France
Series: Routledge Frontiers of Criminal Justice
The Evolving Protection of Prisoners’ Rights in Europe explores the development of the framing of penal and prison policies by the European Court of Human Rights (ECHR), clarifying the European expectations of national authorities, and describing the various models existing in Europe, with a view to analysing their mechanisms and highlighting those that seem the most suitable. A new frame of penal and prison policies in Europe has been progressively established by the ECHR and the Council of Europe (CoE) to protect the rights of detainees in Europe.

The Norwegian Prison System
Halden Prison and Beyond
Are Høidal and Nina Hanssen
This book presents a comprehensive overview of the Norwegian Correctional Service and the values and principles underlying its operations, using the renowned Halden Prison, as a case study. Since its opening in 2010, Halden has been recognized for its uniquely humane treatment of inmates and emphasis on rehabilitation. This book chronicles the lessons learned from the operation of Halden Prison and scrutinizes the effectiveness of its policies. Illuminating new directions for prison reform, it is essential reading for academics and students engaged in the study of criminology, corrections, and penology, as well as practitioners, administrators, judges, policymakers, and advocates.

The English Prison Health System After a Decade of Austerity, 2010-2020
The Failed Political Experiment
Nasrul Ismail
Series: Routledge Frontiers of Criminal Justice
This book examines the impact of austerity on healthcare delivery in English prisons. It argues that austerity has been a political experiment that has caused debt to balloon, eroded the prison health system and perpetuated a cycle of punishment, resulting in sicker prisoners and violating prisoners’ human rights. Blending criminology, public health, sociology, law, social policy, politics, and economics this book challenges current policy, practice and thinking. It is a must read for anyone interested in how the political economic structure can affect healthcare services in marginalised settings, beyond prisons, and indeed beyond England.

The Politics of Prison Crowding
A Critical Analysis of the Italian Prison System
Simone Santorso, University of Sussex, UK
Series: Routledge Frontiers of Criminal Justice
The Politics of Prison Crowding investigates recent transformations in Italy’s penal system to make the key analytical observation that conditions of overcrowding have become the ‘new normal’ under which the modern prison system continues to operate and deliver punishment. Engaging with the politics of crowding thus entails a direct and pertinent engagement with the modern state’s politics of criminal justice and social control.

International Responses to Gendered-Based Domestic Violence

Gender-Specific and Socio-Cultural Approaches

Edited by Dongling Zhang, Webster University, Missouri and Diana Scharff Peterson

Series: Advances in Police Theory and Practice

This book represents a joint effort by international experts to analyze the prevalence and nature of gender-based domestic violence across the globe and how it is dealt with at both national and international levels. With studies being conducted in 20 different countries and four distinct regions, the contributors to this volume shed light on the ways in which contextual particularities shape the practices and strategies of addressing the socio-cultural and legal problem of gender-based domestic violence in the countries or regions where they do research. The book is intended for a wide range of scholars (both professors and students) and practitioners in a large number of areas.

Technology and Domestic and Family Violence

Victimisation, Perpetration and Responses

Edited by Bridget Harris, Monash University, Australia and Delanie Woodlock

Series: Routledge Studies in Crime and Society

This book brings together academics and advocates to explore an emerging issue: the use of technology by perpetrators of domestic and family violence. Of interest too is critique of government and non-government activities in this arena and how technology can be harnessed to respond to harm. Domestic and family violence (DFV) is widely recognised as an important social issue, impacting the safety and wellbeing of victim/survivors and their children, and on a broader scale, threatening risk and security on global levels.

Sexual Assault Kits and Reforming the Response to Rape

Edited by Rachel E. Lovell, Professor at Cleveland State University, and Jennifer Langhinrichsen-Rohling, Professor at the University of North Carolina.

Sexual Assault Kits and Reforming the Response to Rape curates the current state of untested sexual assault kit research and highlights emerging best practices by exploring the past, the present, and the future of our collective response to rape. This book is the first to address the most critical topics related to untested sexual assault kits and the Department of Justice’s Sexual Assault Kit Initiative, bringing together leading US scholars, practitioners, policymakers, and survivors.

Sexual Violence Policies and Sexual Consent Education at Canadian Post-Secondary Institution

D. Scharie Tavcer, Scharie Tavcer teaches at Mount Royal University, and Vicky Dobkins

This book is the culmination of three years of research into sexual violence policies and sexual consent education at post-secondary institutions across Canada. The prevalence of sexual violence has not changed in more than 30 years, and its reporting to police or school authorities has only waxed and waned over those years. In response, this book asks what can be done differently to reduce the number of victims and potential perpetrators? The book provides an environmental scan of over 120 post-secondary institutions (PSIs) across Canada as well as a deeper analysis of 7 PSIs that also include student and staff experiences and opinions.
Children, Care and Crime
Trauma and Transformation
Alison Gerard, Andrew McGrath, Emma Colvin and Annette Gainsford
Series: Routledge Studies in Crime and Society

The historical context of colonisation situates the analysis in Children, Care and Crime of the involvement of children with care experience in the criminal justice system in an Australian jurisdiction (New South Wales), focusing on residential care, policing, the provision of legal services, and interactions in the Children’s Court. While the majority of children in care do not have contact with the criminal justice system, this book explores why those with care-experience, and Indigenous children, are over-represented in this system.

Criminal Careers
Life and Crime Trajectories of Former Juvenile Offenders in Adulthood
Edited by Witold Klaus, Polish Academy of Sciences, Irena Rzeplinska, Polish Academy of Sciences and Dagmara Woźniakowska-Fajst, University of Warsaw
Series: Routledge Studies in Criminal Behaviour

‘Criminal Careers’ follows the lives and criminal behaviours of 2,397 people in Poland, who as juveniles committed a crime and received a form of punishment from the juvenile court between the late 1980’s and the year 2000. Through combining quantitative and qualitative research, their criminal careers, the differences between men and women, risk factors and reasons for non-desistance are analysed. Uniquely, the authors have used an extensive database of former juveniles, in which as many as 40% were women. This book therefore makes a comparison between women and men in terms of their the future life paths.

Critical and Intersectional Gang Studies
Edited by Jennifer M. Ortiz

This book offers a critical and empirical examination of gang life, reexamining mainstream definitions of gangs, identifying myths and misconceptions, and presenting the complex subcultural or countercultural realities of gang members and their associates. Special attention is given to the importance of the structural violence experienced by gang members and their communities. Critical and Intersectional Gang Studies is intended for students and scholars involved in the study of gangs, delinquency, and subcultural theory and will serve as a reference for researchers who wish to utilize a progressive, critical, and intersectional approach to study the impacts of gangs.

Bank Insolvency Law in Developing Economies
Edited by Kayode Akintola and Folashade Adeyemo
Series: Routledge Research in Finance and Banking Law
The subject of bank stability has been under a great amount of political and legislative scrutiny since the mid-2007 – late-2009 global financial crisis. However, these efforts have centered on developed economies. Little coverage is given to strategies adopted by many developing economies. While there is a global discourse on the subject of insolvency generally, there is ample scope to contribute to the growing body of work on the narrow subject of bank insolvencies. This book provides a unique perspective on an emerging theme in at least two respects.

Mobile Payments, Consumer Policy and the Law
A Comparative Analysis
Nwanneka Ezechukwu
Series: Routledge Research in Finance and Banking Law
Mobile technology offers an innovative and cost-effective channel for delivering a range of financial services, including mobile payments. In some jurisdictions, mobile payments simply provide a convenient option for facilitating payment transactions. In other jurisdictions, mobile payments are viewed as potentially transformative because they present an opportunity to expand access to financial services. However, as with other innovations, mobile payments raise consumer protection concerns and require robust regulatory mechanisms to address such concerns.

Securitization and Financial Law
The New EU Regulation
Pierre de Gioia Carabellese, Heriot-Watt University, Scotland and Camilla Giustina
Series: Routledge Research in Finance and Banking Law
The book “Law of Securitisations: from Crisis to Techno Sustainability” provides a full and detailed account of the EU legislation in the area of structured finance with the new legal rules dissected and discussed in their full extent. Securitisation transactions have been identified in the literature among the main reasons for the 2007/2008 financial crisis, alongside with derivative contracts. More than a decade later, the EU legislature passed in 2017 a legal framework comprehensively disciplining the area of the securitisations in the EU.

Sovereign Debt Restructuring and the Law
The Holdout Creditor Problem in Argentina and Greece
Sebastian Grund
Series: Routledge Research in Finance and Banking Law
The book sheds light on the perhaps most important legal conundrum in the context of sovereign debt restructuring: the holdout creditor problem. Absent an international bankruptcy regime for sovereigns, holdout creditors may delay or even thwart the resolution of sovereign debt crises by leveraging contractual provisions and, in an increasing number of cases, by seeking to enforce a debt claim against the sovereign in courts or international tribunals.

The Regulation of Megabanks
Legal frameworks of the USA and EU
Katarzyna Parchimowicz
Series: Routledge Research in Finance and Banking Law
Global systemically important banks are the largest, most complex and, in the event of their potential failure, most threatening banking institutions in the world. The global financial crisis was a turning point for global systemically important banks, many of which contributed to the outbreak and severity of this downturn. The unfolding of the global financial crisis also revealed flaws and omissions in the legal framework applying to financial entities.

Knock-for-Knock Indemnities and the Law

Contractual Limitation and Delictual Liability

Edited by Kristoffer Svendsen, Endre Stavang and Greg Gordon

Series: Contemporary Commercial Law

This book examines contractual limitation, principles and practice through the use of knock-for-knock indemnity clauses. In using such clauses, the parties agree that for certain forms of potential liability – typically property damage, personal injury to employees, and sometimes other heads of claim such as consequential loss – any loss arising will be absorbed by the party who suffers it: “you look after your losses, I’ll look after mine.” It is an apparently simple, pragmatic and neat solution to the question of who bears liability: a risk allocation model so straightforward that it was described by one experienced English judge, Honorable Mr. Justice Morison, as “crude.”

Routledge Handbook of Risk Management and the Law

Edited by Virginia A. Suveiu

In today’s highly globalized and regulated economy, organizations face a complex myriad of laws and regulations. A process designed to detect and prevent regulatory compliance failures is vital. However, such an effective process cannot succeed without development and maintenance of a strong compliance and legal risk management culture. Edited by an expert on legal risk management, this book provides an all-inclusive resource, specifying everything that needs to be known in these developing areas. It is an essential reference for students, researchers, and professionals with an interest in business law, risk management, strategic management, and business ethics.

Knock-for-Knock Indemnities and the Law

Contractual Limitation and Delictual Liability

Edited by Kristoffer Svendsen, Endre Stavang and Greg Gordon

Series: Contemporary Commercial Law

This book examines contractual limitation, principles and practice through the use of knock-for-knock indemnity clauses. In using such clauses, the parties agree that for certain forms of potential liability – typically property damage, personal injury to employees, and sometimes other heads of claim such as consequential loss – any loss arising will be absorbed by the party who suffers it: “you look after your losses, I’ll look after mine.” It is an apparently simple, pragmatic and neat solution to the question of who bears liability: a risk allocation model so straightforward that it was described by one experienced English judge, Honorable Mr. Justice Morison, as “crude.”

Comparative Law and the Task of Negative Critique

Pierre Legrand

This book’s essays seek to cleanse comparative law of some of the epistemic detritus it has been collecting and that has been cluttering its theory and practice to the point where this flotsam has effectively stultified ‘good’ comparison. This book will benefit all law teachers and postgraduate law students interested in the workings of law on the international scene, whether specialists in comparative law, public international law, private international law, transnational law, or foreign relations law – in particular, individuals bringing to bear a critical inclination to their subject-matter.

Slavery, Indenture and the Law
Assembling a Nation in Colonial Mauritius

Nandini Boodia-Canoo, Senior Lecturer and Academic Lead for Equality, Diversity and Inclusion, Bloomsbury Institute London, UK

Series: Routledge Research in Legal History

This book addresses historical issues of colonialism and race, which influenced the formation of multicultural society in Mauritius. In studying the relevant laws, four legal events of historical importance within the context of the two relevant labour systems, slavery and indentured labour, are identified: the abolition of the slave trade, the abolition of slavery, private indentured labour migration and state-regulated indenture. It presents a legal analysis of core historical events, thus straddling the line between the two disciplines. The book will be a valuable resource for scholars in the fields of slavery, indenture, and the legal apparatus of forced labour.

Contract Law in Changing Times
Asian Perspectives on Pacta Sunt Servanda
Edited by Normann Witzleb
Series: Markets and the Law
This collection of essays provides a rich and contemporary discussion of the principle of pacta sunt servanda. This principle, which requires that valid agreements are to be honoured, is a cornerstone of contract law. Focusing on contributions from Asia, this book shows that, despite its natural and universal appeal, the pacta sunt servanda principle is neither absolute nor immutable. Exceptions to the binding force of contract must be available in limited circumstances to avoid hardship and unfairness.

2nd Edition
Understanding Contract Law
Richard Austen-Baker and Qi Zhou
Understanding Contract Law provides an accessible, in-depth analysis of the purpose of contracting and the role of the law of contract, as well as theories that inform it, assessing the historical development of this cornerstone of law, and how these theories are applied in jurisdictions throughout the world. With a new chapter examining the impact of globalization on contract law, this new edition also includes recent behavioural research around responses to contract breach. Uniquely, the book is not limited to one jurisdiction, making this an essential text for students wishing to expand their knowledge of this fundamental area of law around the world.

Crimmigration under International Protection

Constructing Criminal Law as Governmentality

Rottem Rosenberg-Rubins, Tel Aviv University, and Minerva Center for the Rule of Law under Extreme Conditions, University of Haifa, Israel

Series: New Advances in Crime and Social Harm

The convergence of criminal law and immigration law, known as crimmigration, has become perhaps the paradigmatic model for governing migration in the age of globalization. This book offers a unique way of understanding crimmigration as a system of governmentality, the primary target of which is the population, its principal form of knowledge being political economy, and its essential mechanism being the apparatus of security. It does so by characterizing a particular model of crimmigration, termed crimmigration under international protection, which targets refugees and asylum-seekers who are principally undeporable under international law.

Compensation for Wrongful Convictions

A Comparative Perspective

Edited by Wojciech Jasinski and Karolina Kemens

Series: Routledge Contemporary Issues in Criminal Justice and Procedure

This book presents a comparative analysis of the substantive and procedural aspects of compensation for wrongful convictions in European countries and the US, as well as the standard derived from the case law of the European Court of Human Rights. It considers similarities and differences between jurisdictions and assesses the effectiveness of the national compensation schemes. Exploring the minimum European standard as established in the case law of the European Court of Human Rights enables us to identify how the Strasbourg Court can contribute to strengthening the compensation scheme. It will be essential reading for students, academics and policymakers in criminal law and procedure.

Efficiency and Bureaucratization of Criminal Justice

Global Trends

Edited by Ed Johnston, Associate Professor, University of Northampton, UK and Anna Pivaty, Assistant Professor, Radboud University, Nijmegen, Netherlands

Series: Routledge Contemporary Issues in Criminal Justice and Procedure

This book tackles the growing issues concerning the managerialism and bureaucratisation of criminal justice systems. It explores the phenomenon of managerialism in selected national criminal legal systems, representing diverse socio-economic, political, cultural and legal traditions, and covers all stages of criminal case processing from arrest to the imposition of sanction. It critically examines whether and to what extent the trend towards managerialism is discernible and its likely effects in the given national criminal legal systems. It will be of interest to students, researchers and practitioners in the areas of comparative criminal justice and procedure.

Fairness and the Goals of International Criminal Trials

Caleb Wheeler, Lecturer in Law, Cardiff University, UK

This book presents a ground-breaking, interdisciplinary study into the various goals assigned to international criminal trials. It starts from the proposition that no hierarchy exists amongst the different goals meaning that trials should strive to achieve all of them in equal measure. This is made difficult by the fact that not all of these goals are compatible and the fulfilment of one may lead to others going unmet. Therefore, a balance must be found if the goals of trial are to be achieved at all.

Femicide, Criminology and the Law

Hava Dayan and Yifat Bitton, President of Achva Academic College for Science and Education in Israel.

This book offers an interdisciplinary perspective on femicide, using Israel as a case study, given its diverse communities and common-law-based legal system. Utilizing analytical alongside practical perspectives, the book offers a novel criminological approach to femicide. It extends the analysis to secondary victims and examines the applicability of second-tiered relevant legal tools, mostly tort law, as a means for gaining justice for victims. The book will be an invaluable resource for academics, researchers and policy-makers in Criminal Law, Tort Law, Family Law, Criminology and Gender Studies, as well as for legal theorists and criminologists seeking integration of both disciplines.

The Church and Employment Law
A Comparative Analysis of The Legal Status of Clergy and Religious Workers
John Duddington

Series: ICLARS Series on Law and Religion
This book examines the current law on the employment status of ministers of religion and suggests reforms in this area of the law to meet the need for ministers to be given a degree of employment protection. The work takes a comparative perspective to consider the constant theme in Christian history that the clergy should not be subject to the ordinary courts and asks whether this is justified with the growth of areas such as employment law. The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of law and religion, employment law and religious studies, together with both legal practitioners and human resources practitioners in these areas.

Business, Religion and the Law
Church and Business Autonomy in The Secular Economy
Matteo Corsalini
Series: CLARS Series on Law and Religion
This book explores the intersection between business and religion from a legal perspective. Taking a fresh look at some of the most compelling literature in law and religion, it proposes a rethinking of what scholars on both sides of the Atlantic have dubbed 'church autonomy' or, more recently, 'corporate religious freedom.' Through a comparative and interdisciplinary approach to corporate religious freedom, the work provides the reader with a new, comprehensive and easily accessible history on the genesis and evolution of this legal category in American and European law. The book combines material that straddles international law and religion, corporate law, and economics.

Constitutional Democracy and Islam
The Legal Status of Muslims in Italy
Francesco Alicino, Full Professor of Public Law and Religion at the University of LLM, Italy
Series: CLARS Series on Law and Religion
This book outlines the legal status of Muslims in Italy. In particular, it highlights that, when it comes to Islam, the Italian legal system exacerbates the dilemma of contemporary constitutional democracies, increasingly caught between the principle of equality and the right to have rights. Italy’s experience on the legal status of Muslims provides a valuable source of empirical information for a functioning and pluralistic constitutional democracy, especially when dealing with conditions of fear and insecurity. The book will be of interest to researchers, academics and policy-makers working in the areas of Law and Religion, Constitutional Law, Comparative Law and Human Rights.

Human Rights Defenders and the Law
A Constitutional and International Legal Approach
Núria Saura-Freixes
Series: Routledge Research in Constitutional Law
This book presents a comprehensive examination of the Declaration on Human Rights Defenders and provides an analysis of the level of its reflection in regional human rights systems. It locates the nature, activities and need for protection of human rights defenders within the current international legal framework and outlines the place and scope for a specific right to protect human rights. It traces the origins of the right and the main international instruments that define it, both at national and international level. The book will be a valuable resource for academics and researchers working in the areas of International Human Rights Law and Constitutional Law.

Nsongurua Udombana
Series: Routledge Studies on Law in Africa
Social and economic rights have hitherto been marginalised in mainstream legal and political discourses and treated as second-class citizens in the human rights family. In recent years, these rights are receiving increasing attention in law and politics, arguably because they raise existential questions on human security and dignity. This one-stop volume examines the international and public law perspectives on socio-economic rights in Africa.

Sports Investigations Law and the ECHR
Collection, Use and Exchange of Intelligence
Björn Hessert
Series: Routledge Research in Human Rights Law
This book focuses on the analysis of coercive measures that sports federations are permitted to use as part of their investigations to investigate rule violations. The legality of such coercive measures is measured against the legal regime of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR). The book further explores if and to what extent sports organisations and law enforcement agencies may exchange intelligence in support of both internal sports investigation proceedings and criminal investigations. The work will be an invaluable resource for students, academics and policy-makers working in the area of Sports Law and Human Rights Law.

The Rohingya Crisis
Humanitarian and Legal Approaches
Edited by Manzoor Hasan, Syed Mansoob Munshid, Institute of Social Studies, the Netherlands and Priya Pillai
Series: Routledge Research in Human Rights Law
This edited volume addresses the broader aspects of the political and social landscape, human rights violations, accountability and advocacy efforts, and humanitarian challenges faced by the Rohingya from Myanmar. The work brings together different voices of legal, policy, and international affairs experts to construct a framework which addresses the complex and nuanced issues comprising the Rohingya crisis. This timely contribution will be of interest to academics, researchers, development practitioners and human rights organizations.
Digital Health Technologies
Law, Ethics, and the Doctor-Patient Relationship

Carolyn Johnston
Series: Law and Change

This book explores eight digital health technologies, situated in the context of a life span, from high throughput genomic sequencing technologies and DIY insulin delivery for diabetes management in paediatrics, to the use of robotic care assistants for older adults and digital advance care decisions. This book addresses legal and ethical issues arising from the use of emerging digital health technologies and is of interest to academics, clinicians and regulators and anyone interested in the development of health technologies and the challenges they may present.

Regulating the Metaverse
A Critical Assessment

Ignas Kalpokas, Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania and Julija Kalpokiene
Series: Routledge Research in the Law of Emerging Technologies

The metaverse seems to be on everybody’s lips – and yet, very few people can actually explain what it means or why it is important. This book aims to fill the gap from an interdisciplinary perspective informed by law and media and communications studies. Going beyond the optimism emanating from technology companies and venture capitalists, the authors critically evaluate the antecedents and the building blocks of the metaverse, the design and regulatory challenges that need to be solved, and commercial opportunities that are yet to be fully realised.

Artificial Intelligence, Design Law and Fashion
Hasan Kadir Yılmaztekin
Series: Routledge Research in Fashion Law
Artificial intelligence (AI) now infiltrates our culture. After a couple of difficult winters, AI today is a word on everybody’s lips and attracts everyone’s attention regardless of whether they are experts or not. From Apple’s Siri to Amazon’s Alexa, Tesla’s auto-driving cars to facial recognition systems in CCTV cameras, Netflix’s film offering services to Google’s search engine, we live in a world of AI goods.
The advent of AI-powered technologies increasingly affects people’s life across the globe. As a tool for productivity and cost-efficiency, AI also shapes our economy and welfare.

Collective Management of Music Copyright
A Comparative Analysis of China, the United States and Australia
Qinqing Xu
Series: Routledge Research in Intellectual Property
Two of the objectives of the Chinese Copyright Law are to protect the copyright of authors to their literary and artistic works and encourage the creation and dissemination of works. In practice, however, in spite of the existence of the Music Copyright Society of China (MCSC) that was established to assist with exercising copyright, music creators in China remain in need of help to protect and manage their fragmented copyright. The MCSC was the first collective management organisation (CMO) in mainland China and is the only CMO in the field of musical works.

Intellectual Property and Development
Geographical Indications in Practice
Barbara Pick
Series: Routledge Research in Intellectual Property
The legal protection of geographical indications (GIs) is characterised by a variety of approaches which translates the many objectives attached to them. These range from protection of the consumers and producers’ interests against unfair competition practices, to territorial development, to preservation of cultural heritage and natural resources. Looking beyond formal legal protection for GIs, this book seeks to re-draw attention to what happens in the real world by exploring the opportunities and constraints which influence whether regional product branding initiatives are successful. It asks: what makes GIs work in practice and does the type of legal protection matter?
African Witchcraft and Global Asylum-Seeking Border-Crossing Beliefs
Katherine Luongo
Series: Law and Anthropology
This book analyzes how over the last two decades, immigration regimes in three, primary refugee-receiving states in the Global North – Canada, Australia, and the UK – have engaged with allegations about witchcraft-driven violence made by asylum seekers coming from Anglophone countries across the African continent. The book will be essential reading for students and researchers in legal anthropology, African studies, human rights, transnational history, migration and refugee law and policy, and the history and anthropology of witchcraft.

Biosafety Measures, Technology Risks and the World Trade Organization
Thriving and Surviving in the Age of Biotech
Alessandra Guida, Lecturer in Financial Services Law, Climate, Justice & Human Rights in the School of Law, Queen's University Belfast.
This book examines the work of the World Trade Organization, particularly the capacity of its judiciary to strike a balance between free trade in biotechnology and biosafety as to promote the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its Sustainable Development Goals. It offers normative suggestions to develop “a constructive bridge of knowledge” to support a judicial balance by design rather than by chance. It will be a valuable resource for policy-makers working on precautionary governance and management, scholars of trade law, human rights law and environmental law, law students and practitioners, and NGOs in new technologies, biosafety, sustainability and food safety.

Brexit and Energy Law
Implications and Opportunities
Edited by Ana Stanic and Silke Goldberg
Series: Legal Perspectives on Brexit
Bringing together leading experts from across the UK and Europe, this book provides a comprehensive analysis of the impact of Brexit on the energy sector in the UK and in the European Union and its member states. In recent decades, the trend within the EU has been towards greater integration and liberalisation of energy markets. Through the development of the Union’s Internal Energy Market and the funding of cross-border energy infrastructure, EU membership facilitates cross-border trade in energy, promotes security of energy supply and via EURATOM allows EU member states to trade in nuclear material for energy production. Brexit changes all of this.

China’s Foreign Investment Law in the New Normal
Framing the Trajectory and Dynamics
Wei Shen
This book analyses China’s foreign investment law which came into force in January 2020. The new law implemented sweeping changes and overhauled China’s foreign investment law regime of the last four decades. The foreign investment law aims to make the business environment more investor-friendly and address some of the contentious issues between US and China in the ongoing trade war. This book will help give readers a better understanding of major changes and benefits under the new law and will be the first of its kind looking at the implications of this law.

Constitutions of Value
Law, Governance, and Political Ecology
Edited by Isabel Feichtner, Professor of Public Law & International Economic Law, University of Würzburg, Germany and Geoff Gordon, Senior Researcher, Asser Institute, University of Amsterdam, Netherlands
Gathering an interdisciplinary range of cutting-edge scholars, this book addresses legal constitutions of value. Aiming beyond radical critique, the book opens up the possibility of imagining and enacting new and different value practices. This wide-ranging and accessible book will appeal to international lawyers, socio-legal scholars, those working at the intersections of law and economy and others, in politics, economics, environmental studies and elsewhere, who are concerned with rethinking our current ideas of what has value, what does not, and whether and how value may be revalued.

Democracy, Religion, and Commerce
Private Markets and the Public Regulation of Religion
Edited by Kathleen Flake, University of Virginia, USA and Nathan B. Oman, William & Mary Law School, USA
Series: Law and Religion
This collection considers the relationship between religion, state, and market. In so doing, it also illustrates that the market is a powerful site for the cultural work of secularizing religious conflict. It seeks to productively complicate and invite further analysis of the easy conflation of democracy, religion and the market. It invites scholars from a variety of disciplines to consider more intentionally the extent to which markets are implicated in and illuminate the place of religion in public life. The book will be a valuable resource for researchers and academics working in the areas of law and religion, ethics and economics.
Essential Land Law for SQE1
Mohammad Sabuj
Series: Essential Law for SQE1
Essential Land Law for SQE1 explains the key principles of Land law in a clear, easy-to-follow style. Principles are introduced and illustrated with reference to practical examples. The book demonstrates the skills of understanding and analysing the law, taking a clear and structured approach to analysing the facts and then applying the relevant principles. Part of Routledge’s Essential Law for SQE1 series, this concise and accessible text provides a clear understanding of the Land law element of SQE1 and enables you to test your assessment skills. Without the assumption of any prior knowledge of Land law, it is suitable for both undergraduates and non-law graduates.

FIDIC Contracts in Europe
A Practical Guide to Application
Edited by Donald Charrett
Series: Practical Legal Guides for Construction and Technology Projects
The Application of FIDIC Contracts in Europe provides readers with detailed guidance and resources for the preparation of the Particular Conditions that will comply with the requirements of the applicable laws that apply to the site where the work is carried out, and for the governing law of the contract, for a number of the jurisdictions in which FIDIC contracts are used. This book closely follows the format of The International Application of FIDIC Contracts but offers additional chapters on the FIDIC Conditions of Contract for Underground Works (the Emerald Book), and the perspective of a multilateral development bank (MDB) on the use of FIDIC contracts.

Justice and International Law in Meiji Japan
The María Luz Incident and the Dawn of Modernity
Giorgio Fabio Colombo, Graduate School of Law, Nagoya University. Ca’ Foscari University of Venice. Italian School of East Asian Studies.
Series: Routledge Research in Legal History
This book carries out a comprehensive analysis of the María Luz incident, a truly significant episode in Japanese and world history, from a legal perspective. While historians have written widely on the subject, the legal importance of this event has been relatively neglected. This book uses the case to explore the technical legal issues Japan was facing in its transition from pre-modernity to modernity. Based on original documents, this book is an invaluable resource for researchers and academics in the fields of legal history, dispute resolution, international law, Japanese history and Asian studies.

Law and Christianity in Poland
The Legacy of the Great Jurists
Edited by Franciszek Longchamps de Bérier and Rafael Domingo
Series: Law and Religion
This volume is the first comprehensive study of the Polish history of law and Christianity written in English for a global audience. It examines the lives of twenty-one central figures in Polish law with a focus on how their Christian faith was a factor in molding the evolution of law in their country and the region. The collection will appeal to scholars, lawyers, and students interested in the interplay between law and religion. Political, social, legal, and religious historians, among other readers, will find, for the first time in English, authoritative treatments of essential Polish legal thinkers and authors.

Mining Law and Governance in Africa

Transformation and Innovation for a Sustainable Mining Sector

Edited by Victoria R. Nalupe, University of Dundee, USA

This book explores the various issues characterizing the African mining sector, it draws examples from different African countries and regional organisations. Although there is a massive literature on the subject, some issues have been neglected, including the crucial role of digitalization and technological advancement in resolving the environmental and social challenges faced in Artisanal and Small-Scale Mining; deep-sea mining; mining contract negotiations; modernising the mining laws to reflect the increasing role of critical minerals, to mention but a few.

Postcolonial Legality: Law, Power and Politics in Zambia

Jeremy Gould, University of Helsinki

This book interrogates the ideology and practices of liberal constitutionalism in the Zambian postcolony. It focuses on the residual political and governmental effects of an Imperial form of power, embodied in the person of the Republican President, termed here Prerogativism. Long-term ethnographic engagement with Zambian constitutional activists examines how Prerogativism has shaped the postcolonial political landscape and limited the possibilities of constitutional liberalism. It will appeal to scholars, students and practitioners interested in theorizing challenges to political liberalism in postcolonial contexts and in rethinking the methodological toolbox of socio-legal analysis.

Participation and Democratic Innovation under International Human Rights Law

Nicholas McMurry

Series: Human Rights and International Law

This book explores the human rights principle of participation and the human right to participation. The work presents the argument that international human rights law imposes obligations to enable participation, and demonstrates that it has been interpreted in this way by authoritative bodies. While there have been several studies of specific forms of participation, such as collective bargaining, this study provides a coherent account of the meaning and application of participation in international human rights law as a whole. It will be an invaluable resource for academics, researchers and policy-makers working in the area of international human rights law.

Preventing the Maritime Facilitation of Terrorism

Maritime Terrorism Risk and International Law

Robin Bowley, Faculty of Law, University of Technology Sydney, Australia.

Series: Routledge Research in Terrorism and the Law

This book evaluates the extent to which the international maritime security measures developed following the 9/11 attacks would be likely to prevent the utilisation of vessels to facilitate terrorist activities. It formulates suggested guidelines for the unilateral interdiction of suspected terrorist support vessels in exceptional circumstances, and emphasises the importance of the continual implementation of ship, port facility and supply chain security measures, and of further enhancing international cooperation to facilitate vessel interdictions. It will be of interest to those working in the areas of Law and Terrorism, Law of the Sea, Maritime Law and Insurance and International Law.

Peaceful Management of Maritime Disputes

Edited by James Kraska and Hee Yang

Series: Routledge Research on the Law of the Sea

International law concerning maritime boundary dispute resolution reflects normative aspirations for peacefully managing some of the most intractable challenges in foreign affairs. Focusing on key international law issues relating to maritime boundary disputes, this book explores how international law and legal institutions facilitate these goals theoretically and practically. This process includes a balance of equities among states grounded in the Charter of the United Nations and the protection of sovereignty, territorial integrity, and political independence of Member States, while avoiding threats to the peace, breaches of the peace, and acts of aggression.

Private International Law and Arbitral Jurisdiction

Faidon Varesis

Series: Routledge Research in International Law

International commercial arbitration and litigation are often seen as competing fora, fields of law, or markets. This intersection is at its highest at the forefront of any proceedings, at the jurisdictional stage. The analysis of jurisdictional issues at the forefront of an arbitration has been confined in a descriptive analysis of the law and jurisprudence, dealing with jurisdictional intersections almost in a mechanistic manner. These are not, however, issues which can be treated as mere mechanical rules. They are issues pertaining to core notions of authority, sovereignty, their origins and their allocation.

Radical Constitutional Pluralism in Europe

Orlando Scarcello, Postdoctoral Fellow in Law at the University of Leuven, Belgium

This book explains the challenge and importance of constitutional pluralism, showing its theoretical and practical relevance. It explores how legal practitioners and theorists have faced the challenge of a society living under two constitutions at the same time, as is the case in the European Union. It also looks at constitutional crisis outside of the EU to ground the claim that pluralism and conflicts are essential elements of modern constitutions. This work will be of particular interest to students and academics in Law and Political Science, as well as scholars in general jurisprudence, EU law, constitutional and comparative constitutional law, and the history of European integration.

Regulation of Debt Collection in Europe

Understanding Informal Debt Collection Practices

Edited by Cătălin Gabriel Stănescu

Due to the absence of due process and other procedural guarantees generally offered by judicial enforcement, informal debt collection practices (IDCPs) can become abusive, harming both consumers and the economy by threatening consumers’ physical, psychological, and economic wellbeing; exposing law-abiding debt collectors to unfair competition; undermining the financial system, and negatively impacting social peace by resorting to criminal activity.

Resale Price Maintenance and the Law

The Future of Vertical Restraints

Christy Kollmar

The question of how to properly enforce against RPM has been a contentious debate for decades on both sides of the Atlantic. The catalyst is the acceptance that RPM can generate both anti-competitive effects and pro-competitive efficiencies that need to be properly balanced to ensure against Type I/Type II errors and to create viable legislation. Part I focuses on 100 years of US origins and the current legal approach to VR enforcement, which reveals the precedent responsible for the transition between per se illegality and the rule of reason thresholds at the federal level.

Sea Level Change and Maritime Boundaries

Shifting Baselines and Maritime Spaces

Antoine Grima

Series: IMLI Studies in International Maritime Law

Climate change is modifying, in varying measure, the coastal geography of States. The phenomenon is not temporary but is expected to carry on during the 21st century and beyond. A distinctive feature of modern international law is the concept of maritime zones. Each maritime area is subject to an intricate scheme of States’ rights and obligations. Coastal geography is a fundamental component of a long-standing method, developed and agreed upon between States, to establish the outward limits of these areas. A feature of this method is the baseline. In international law it is the only reference line from where the outward limits of maritime zones are measured.

State Liability and the Law

A Historical and Comparative Analysis

Bartłomiej Wróblewski, Assistant Professor of Law, SWPS University of Social Sciences and Humanities, Poland.

Series: Routledge Studies in Comparative Legal History

This book explores the historical foundations of holding public authorities accountable for their acts, and discusses how and why the idea that the state should or should not be held liable became established in the leading European legal systems: Germany, France and Great Britain. It shows that the lack of liability for law-making instruments was not an unsalvageable dogma, and that questions as to whether such liability was possible were being asked from the Middle Ages onwards. The work will be a valuable resource for academics and researchers in Constitutional Law, Public Law, History of Law, History of Legal and Political Thought, Philosophy of Law, and Comparative Legal Studies.

The Space Law Stalemate
Legal Mechanisms for Developing New Norms

Anja Pecujlic
Series: Routledge Research in Air and Space Law
The governing international space law regime has been locked in a norm-creation stalemate for over 40 years. This stalemate endangers the preservation of established, guiding legal principles, as well as the sustainability of the parts of outer space that humans utilize. The discrepancy between norm creation, technological advancement and the ecosystem of novel actors could generate serious consequences for future space activities and the nature of international relations.

Transboundary Heritage and Intellectual Property Law
Safeguarding Intangible Cultural Heritage

Edited by Patricia Covarrubia
Series: Routledge Studies in Cultural Heritage and International Law
Since the Intangible Heritage Convention was adopted by UNESCO in 2003, intangible cultural heritage has increasingly been an important subject of debate in international forums. As more countries implement the Intangible Heritage Convention, national policymakers and communities of practice have been exploring the use of intellectual property protection to achieve intangible cultural heritage safeguarding outcomes.

The Sexual Logics of Neoliberalism in Britain
Sexual Politics in Exceptional Times

Aura Lehtonen
Series: Social Justice
This book explores the relationship between sexuality and politics in Britain’s recent political past, in the decade preceding the Covid-19 pandemic, and asks what sexual meanings and logics are embedded in the dominant political narratives, discourses and policies of this time. This empirically informed and theoretically innovative analysis makes an important contribution to the understandings of sexuality, identity and inequalities, as well as of crisis and neoliberalism. It will be of interest to scholars and students in gender and sexuality studies, cultural studies, and sociology, politics and social policy.

Understanding European Union Law

Karen Davies, Maarten van Munster and Isabel Düsterhöft
Providing short, clear and accessible explanations of the main areas of EU law, Understanding European Union Law is both an ideal introduction for students new to EU law and an essential addition to revision for the more accomplished. This eighth edition has been fully revised and updated with the latest legislative changes and includes an in-depth discussion of ‘Brexit’ and its implications for EU-UK relations. It also includes a new chapter on three ‘non-economic’ areas of EU law: fundamental human rights, equality (non-discrimination) and the environment.

An Economic Sociology of Law Reimagined
Beyond Embeddedness
Clare Williams
This book critically examines the concept of ‘embeddedness’, the core concept of an Economic Sociology of Law (ESL). It suggests that our ways of doing, talking, and thinking about law, economy, and society, reproduce and re-entrench mainstream approaches, shaping our thoughts and actions such that we perform according to the model. This timely engagement with the emerging field of Economic Sociology of Law will appeal to socio-legal scholars and others with interests in the intersection of law, economics and sociology.

Counter-Piracy Law in Practice
An Ethnography of International Security Governance
Jessica Larsen, Danish Institute for International Studies, Denmark.
This book is a socio-legal study of counter-piracy. It takes as its case the law enforcement efforts after 2008 to suppress piracy off the coast of Somalia. Through ethnographic fieldwork, the book aims to understand how counter-piracy works in practice. The book will be of interest to policy-makers, security practitioners and scholars, who share a methodological commitment to practice.

Children & the Law
Shaping the Modern Welfare Principle in the British Isles
Kerry O’Halloran, Queensland University of Technology, Brisbane, Australia
Series: Children and the Law
Balancing a child’s welfare interests and rights so as to ensure recognition and respect for his or her autonomous identity, while facilitating family unity, has become a major challenge for modern family law. This book, following on from The Principle of the Welfare of the Child: A History, examines, contrasts and compares the response of England & Wales and Ireland to that challenge. It does so by applying the same matrix of indicators to explore, in each country, the distinction between welfare interests and rights and to trace changes in the balance between them.

Feminist Jurisography
Law, History, Writing
Ann Genovese, Melbourne Law School, Australia
This book offers a jurisprudential meditation and methodological performance on how feminist and legal thought come into relation. This book is about the conduct of one’s scholarship and why it requires examination. The book will be a useful resource for scholars and students of law and humanities, feminism, and history, and of value to a general audience interested in feminist ideas. The book will benefit contemporary conversations about the history and status of feminist contributions to these fields.

Christianity, Ethics and the Law
The Concept of Love in Christian Legal Thought
Edited by Zachary R. Calo, Joshua Neoh and A. Keith Thompson
Series: Law and Religion
This book examines how Christian love can inform legal thought. It introduces love as a way to advance the emergent conversation between constructive theology and jurisprudence that will also inform conversations in philosophy and political theory. Contributions explore how such thinkers as Augustine, Aquinas and Calvin utilised love in their legal thought, as well as exploring Christian love in light of contemporary legal topics including civility; forgiveness and secularism. The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of legal theory; law and religion; law and philosophy; legal history; theology and religious studies; and political theory.

Minority Rights and Liberal Democratic Insecurities
The Challenge of Unstable Orders
Edited by Anna-Mária Bíró, Tom Lantos Institute and Dwight Newman
This book addresses the impact of a range of destabilising issues on minority rights in Europe and North America. Bringing together scholars from a range of disciplines, and engaged in work on various unstable orders, the book provides a unique, and largely neglected, perspective on present developments as well as addressing the pressing issue of the future of the minority rights regime at global, regional, and national levels. This book will appeal to those with interests in minority rights, human rights, nationalism, law, and politics.

International Law and the Relationality of States
A Critique of Theories of Recognition
Erdem Ertürk
This book critically engages with theories of the recognition of states under international law. Demonstrating that recognition is a constitutive relation that is imperative for the construction of international subjects, the book argues that prevalent theories of recognition fail short of accommodating this imperative. This critical engagement with a key notion in international law will appeal to legal and political theorists, as well as scholars and students in international relations.

Practical English Language Skills for Lawyers
Improving Your Legal English
Natasha Costello and Louise Kulbicki
This book shows non-native, English speaking lawyers how to apply their English language skills to everyday legal situations and contexts, providing essential guidance to ensure they can work confidently in different settings and mediums. Designed to hone skills required in working life, Practical English Language Skills for Lawyers is practical, accessible and fun. Including guidance on job applications and interview practice, this book is an invaluable resource not only for current legal professionals but also for those students considering their first career step.

Justifying Violent Protest
Law and Morality in Democratic States
James Greenwood-Reeves
This book presents a radical, but compelling, argument that liberal democracies must be able accommodate violent protest. This book will appeal to a broad range of academics, in legal and political theory, sociolegal studies, criminology, history and philosophy, as well as others with interests in contemporary forms of protest.

The Complete LNAT Guide
An Expert Guide to Success
Leslie Ho and Kian Yang Ng
This is a complete and comprehensive guide for applicants sitting the National Admissions Test for Law (LNAT) examination. As a one-stop solution to performing well in the LNAT, this guide comes with tips, strategies, full practice papers, and answers with detailed explanations. The Complete LNAT Guide is an essential book for all applicants preparing to sit the LNAT examination.

Postliberal Constitutionalism
The Challenge of Right Wing Populism in Central and Eastern Europe
Adam Sulikowski
This book addresses recent changes in Central and Eastern Europe in order to critically consider the impact of illiberal conservatism on constitutionalism. It will appeal to constitutional lawyers, as well as to legal and political theorists with interests in contemporary populism and liberal thought.

2nd Edition
The Insider’s Guide to Legal Skills
Emily Allbon and Sanmeet Kaur Dua
The Insider’s Guide to Legal Skills will show you what you need to succeed, applying skills in their real-world context and helping you get to grips with legal method and thinking.
Challenges to EU Values in Hungary
How the European Union Misunderstood the Government of Viktor Orbán

Beáta Bakó
Series: Comparative Constitutional Change
The national-conservative government of Hungary has been heavily criticised for the violation of EU values, primarily, the rule of law in recent years. This book looks to the bigger picture in examining the rule-of-law debate between Hungary and the EU. It explores how certain elements of various Hungarian constitutional reforms are interrelated and how the EU has failed to address the situation properly. The book will be of interest to students, academics and policy-makers working in the areas of Constitutional Law and Politics, EU Law, and Populism.

Indirect Judicial Review in Administrative Law
Legality vs Legal Certainty in Europe

Edited by Mariolina Eliantonio and Dacian Dragos
This book provides a comparative analysis and concrete application of the system of indirect review of administrative action. The work explores whether the system of indirect review is a suitable remedy for modern administrative justice, assessing if it fairly balances the legality and the legal certainty principles. It examines the tension between the two principles, and explores whether a common European trend can be discerned by analysing theory and practice from jurisdictions in Western and Eastern Europe, as well as the EU legal system. The book will be a valuable resource for academics, researchers and policy-makers in the areas of Administrative Law, EU law and Public Administration.

Instruments of Public Law
Digital Transformation during the Pandemic

Edited by Irena Lipowicz, Grażyna Szpor and Aleksandra Sytt
Series: Routledge Research in EU Law
The Covid 19 pandemic has revealed the need to verify the existing principles of functioning of public authorities, in relation to various decision-making processes, both at the conceptual level and at law implementation. The action of the legislator and public administration towards the society and the economy is conducted using peculiar instruments to control the public administration system. These instruments are likely to be of a public or private law nature.

Rule of Law in Crisis
Constitutionalism in a State of Flux

Edited by Martin Belov
Series: Routledge Research in Public Law
This book addresses the current crisis that threatens the rule of law and has led to the need for its adjustment. It explores how constitutional crisis, emergency constitutionalism and constitutional polycentric asset pressures for the transformation of rule of law and thus produce a state of flux. It examines the rule of law from the viewpoint of constitutional imaginaries, memory politics and identity politics, and critically assesses the responses given by the EU and its member states to the current crisis. The book will be an invaluable resource for researchers, academics and policy-makers working in the areas of Constitutional Law and Political Science.

Solidarity in International Law
Challenges, Opportunities and The Role of Regional Organizations
Edited by Leonardo Pasquali
Series: Routledge-Giappichelli Studies in Law
This book explores the principle of solidarity in international law, reconstructing the foundations of solidarity in law and investigating its origins. It considers whether solidarity exists as a principle in international law and, if so, what its scope is. The work examines the eventual implementation of the principle of solidarity in regional organizations law, whether solidarity is more effective and better fulfilled when relationships between states get stronger, such as in regional and sub-regional organizations. It will be of interest to researchers and academics in International Law, International Organizations Law, European Law, Human Rights Law, Business Law, and Constitutional Law.

Commercial and Maritime Law in China and Europe
Edited by Shengnan Jia and Lijun Liz Zhao
Series: Maritime and Transport Law Library
Both China and Europe have a long tradition of commercial and maritime law, and this new book examining various topics from their particular perspectives is both timely and important. It links the vital component of maritime law with commercial law, financial law and trade policy.
This book provides a welcome opportunity for anyone interested in commercial and maritime law to engage in that learning exercise and, looking ahead, thereby to help solve such problems as may arise in the future – in a practical and fair manner. It is therefore of great relevance to both the academic field and the legal practice field in China and Europe.

Inland Waterway Transport
The European Legal Framework
Massimiliano Grimaldi
Series: Maritime and Transport Law Library
This book analyses the European legal framework on inland water transport in light of the most recent legislation adopted and how the main Member States of Central Western Europe have implemented it. Specifically, the book provides an innovative tool of analytical and systematic study of the various legislative EU measures that regulate the inland waterways transport sector, as well as for the comparative study and analysis of the relevant measures of implementation adopted by the afore-mentioned Member States. Furthermore, the book is very useful for policy-makers of countries that are not members of the European Union.

Law of the Sea and Maritime Delimitation
State Practice and Case Law in Latin America and the Caribbean
Angel Horna
Series: Routledge Research on the Law of the Sea
The law of maritime delimitation has been shaped by the interpretation of certain provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, which has led to State practice being neglected in current scholarship. This book presents an overview of the under-examined question of the impact of State practice in Latin America and the Caribbean on the development of the law of maritime delimitation.

Maritime Operations Law in Practice
Key Cases and Incidents
Edited by David Letts and Rob Mclaughlin
Series: Routledge Research on the Law of the Sea
The law that applies to maritime operations at sea is complex and comprises two distinct elements, treaty law 1982 UN Convention on the Law of the Sea, and the cases and incidents that occur at sea in both peacetime, and during armed conflict, which result in the creation of customary international law applicable to maritime operations at sea. Covering sovereignty and vessel status, jurisdiction and interdiction, freedom of navigation, maritime law enforcement and security, and the law of naval warfare, this edited collection brings together the most famous and influential cases and incidents at sea.

Maritime Salvage Operations and Environmental Protection
Durand Cupido
Series: Routledge Research on the Law of the Sea
This book questions the use of salvage law as legal regulatory framework for the remuneration of environmental services in salvage operations, proposing that such services should be based on direct contracting between commercial salvors and coastal States. Adopting an environment-first approach, it argues that direct contracting better serves and promotes environmental protection outcomes. It also takes a functional view of the law as a tool to promote values and sought outcomes. Salvage operations are recognised as a first line of defence against pollution following shipping incidents.

Merchant Ship's Seaworthiness
Law and Practice

Xiankai Zhan and Pengfei Zhang
Series: Maritime and Transport Law Library

The seaworthiness of merchant ships plays a critical role in ensuring the safety of life and property and the prevention of marine pollution. It deals with the fitness and readiness of a ship and its fundamental ability to sail safely to its destination. The standards of seaworthiness extend to literally all aspects of a ship, including the human element, physical structure, documentation, cargo worthiness and so on. It is one of the most complicated concepts in the maritime regulatory regime, and it takes many forms. The book is written to meet the needs of lawyers, maritime professionals and academics, to thoroughly explain the concept of seaworthiness and the relevant legal issues.

The Modern Law of Marine Insurance
Volume Five

Edited by D. Rhidian Thomas, University of Swansea, UK
Series: Maritime and Transport Law Library

This fifth volume in the series comprises ten contributions written by an expert team of academics and practitioners. Collectively they analyse and expound many of the contemporary legal issues and debates in the law and practice of marine insurance. The new volume is not to be considered as a “new edition” superseding the earlier volumes. To the contrary, it extends on the previous coverage and contributes to the expanding coverage of the series. It achieves this by introducing new topics for analysis and by noting significant developments in themes considered in earlier volumes, thereby providing a useful tool for keeping abreast of an ever developing body of judicial law.

Offshore Floating Production
Legal and Commercial Risk Management

Edited by Max Lemanski, Simon Moore and Stuart Beadnall
Series: Maritime and Transport Law Library

This is the first book to focus on the law and practice relating to offshore oil and gas floating production. It deals with all legal and commercial risk management issues from initial concept through design, construction, modification, installation, acceptance, production and offloading, including ancillary legal topics; JV/consortiums, financing, insurance, decommissioning and intellectual property.

The book will be of special interest to project managers and in-house lawyers at oil companies, offshore contractors, design consultants, construction companies, suppliers, vessel operators, banks, insurers and investors.

3rd Edition
Shipping and the Environment
Law and Practice

Colin De La Rue, Charles Anderson, Assuranceforeningen Skuld, Norway; Colombia Law School, USA and Jonathan Hare
Series: Lloyd’s Shipping Law Library

While updating its core subjects of pollution from ships, wreck removal and dumping at sea, this enlarged text extends into other modern areas including pollution from offshore operations after Deepwater Horizon, plastics released into the sea, recycling of vessels, polar operations, and the fast-changing restrictions on carbon emissions from ships, as well as safety threats such as cyberattacks, terrorism and modern forms of piracy.

With a highly readable introductory chapter amounting to a book within a book, this is a volume of great importance to all whose work or studies are concerned with marine environmental affairs.
