A Clinician's Guide to Gender Actualization

An Approach to Gender Affirming Therapy

Caitlin Yilmazer

A Clinician's Guide to Gender Actualization provides an essential guide for mental health professionals working with gender diverse clients, delivering material that challenges clinicians to provide affirming specialized care for their clients. Building upon the reader's foundational knowledge, chapters provide assessment tools, interventions, and treatment strategies to implement in their clinical practice, with accompanying personal narratives and client experiences woven throughout. Challenging readers to explore intersectionality and their own privileges, this book is a critical read for providers working with or seeking to educate themselves regarding gender diverse clients.

A Therapist's Handbook to Dissolve Shame and Defense

Master the Moment

Susan Warren Warshaw

This engaging, often lyrical handbook emphasizes "shame-sensitivity" to create the safety necessary to achieve profound interpersonal connection. Often overlooked in treatment, shame can undermine the entire process. The author explains the "therapeutic transfer of compassion for self," a relational phenomenon that purposefully generates affective expression. She introduces a three-step, robust framework, The Healing Triad, to orient therapists to intervene effectively when the winds of resistance arise.

Acceptance and Commitment Skills for Perfectionism and High-Achieving Behaviors

Do Things Your Way, Be Yourself, and Live a Purposeful Life

Patricia E. Zurita Ona

This book will show you how you can give your best, work hard and push yourself when you deeply care about things without sacrificing your well-being, hurting your relationships, or compromising your health. You will learn when to engage in high achieving actions in an effective, life-expansive and skillful way. You will develop a new workable relationship with all those narratives about not-being-good enough and treat yourself with kindness, compassion and caring. Most importantly, you will find that you can be yourself without losing yourself.

Advances in Family-School-Community Partnering

Gloria E. Miller, Amanda Arthur-Stanley, Cherry Creek School District, Colorado, USA and Rashida Banerjee

Family-School-Community Partnering (FSCP) is a multi-dimensional process in which schools, families, and communities work together to ensure the academic, social, and emotional success of students. In this new edition, the authors evaluate advances to a multi-tiered model of FSCP that further incorporates community alliances. School psychologists, counselors, educators, administrators, and social workers will learn how to strategically implement this partnering in all levels of schooling.

Art Psychotherapy Groups in The Hostile Environment of Neoliberalism

Collusion or Resistance?

Edited by Sally Skaife and Jon Martyn

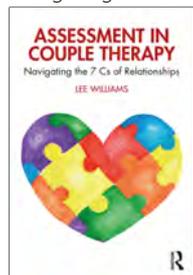

This book explores how 'the hostile environment' of neoliberalism affects art therapy in Britain. It shows how ambiguity in art and in psychoanalytically understood relationships, can enable art psychotherapy groups to engage with class dynamics and aspire to democracy. Written by art psychotherapists for arts therapists and other mental health workers, the book will bring political awareness and consideration of resistance into all art therapy relationships, whatever the context and client group.

Black and Sexy

A Framework of Racialized Sexuality

Tracie Q. Gilbert

Tracie Q. Gilbert, in this book, draws from theoretical perspectives of anti-Blackness, ethno-sexuality, performative Blackness, and African-centered epistemology, to implicate race as an inextricable factor in the sexual structures and schema of African American people. The book offers a unique understanding of African American populations and their articulation of sexuality and race by introducing a comprehensive sexological model, Black Sexual Epistemology. It is essential reading for practicing sex therapists, marriage and family therapists, students of sexology, sex education, Black/African American studies, LGBTQ studies and similar fields.

Christopher Bollas

A Contemporary Introduction

Steven Jaron

Series: Routledge Introductions to Contemporary Psychoanalysis

This book provides a clear and accessible overview of the seminal clinical thinking of Christopher Bollas. Placing Bollas's writings besides those of analysts including Milner, Bion, Winnicott, Lacan, and Green, Steven Jaron examines the central concept of the unthought known in terms of unconscious communication in the primary environment while occasioning a reworking of Oedipal configurations. This important study will be rewarding to beginning and seasoned analysts alike, offering suggestions for using Bollas' work in the consulting room as well as when faced with the demands of civic life today.

Coaching Self-Organising Teams

Helping Teams Flourish

Ro Gorell

Series: The Professional Coaching Series

Part of The Professional Coaching Series, this book challenges the assumption that self-organising teams will work in all settings, answering some of the recurring questions and challenges observed in many organisations. How do we connect with each other, so we create trust? How do we work through conflict and see it as part of a natural ebb and flow in relationships? How do we create meaningful work in the context of an ever-changing environment? The opening chapter lays out some basic team coaching principles to help set the stage for coaching people in teams and there are coaching questions in each chapter to engage the reader as well as tools they can use immediately.

Coaching Women to Lead

Changing the World from the Inside

Averil Leimon, Director, White Water Group, UK, Leadership Psychologist and International Speaker, François Moscovici, White Water Strategies, London, UK and Helen Goodier, White Water Strategies, London, UK

Series: Essential Coaching Skills and Knowledge

10 years ago, the first edition of this book asked why there was such a low number of women filling leadership roles and outlined what it took for women to succeed in their careers. Since then, headline numbers have gone up but has there been real change? This new edition continues a deep investigation into underlying issues and coaching responses. Building on the first edition's original research with the London School of Economics, the authors revisit all assumptions, adding millennials and beyond, as well as a broader selection of industry sectors.

Coming to Life in the Consulting Room

Toward a New Analytic Sensibility

Thomas H. Ogden

Series: New Library of Psychoanalysis

Ogden sets out a movement in contemporary psychoanalysis toward a new sensibility, reflecting a shift in emphasis from what he calls "epistemological psychoanalysis" (having to do with knowing and understanding) to "ontological psychoanalysis" (having to do with being and becoming). This book will be of great interest not only to psychoanalysts and psychotherapists interested in the shift in analytic theory and practice Ogden describes, but also to those interested in ideas concerning the way the mind and human experiencing are created.

Constructing Authentic Relationships in Clinical Practice

Working at the Intersection of Therapist and Client Identities

Edited by Jade Logan, Brad van Eeden-Moorefield and Scott Browning, Chestnut Hill College, Pennsylvania, USA

This essential text explores the intersectionality of the self in therapeutic practice, bringing together theoretical foundations and practical implications to provide clear guidance for students and practitioners. Chapters examine how the theory of intersectionality can be applied to the reader's individual social identity before delving further into how the identity impacts phases of the therapeutic process and, crucially, work with clients. The book includes first-hand accounts and reflections to integrate research with clinical practice, demonstrate how interactions are influenced by gender, race and sexuality, and offer practical ideas about how to intentionally proceed.

Co-occurring Mental Illness and Substance Use Disorders

Evidence-based Integrative Treatment and Multicultural Application
Edited by Tricia L. Chandler, Fredrick Dombrowski and Tara G. Matthews

This textbook details how mental health and addiction are interconnected through childhood trauma, how this affects neurobiology and neuropsychology, and the need for an integrated whole-person treatment for those of diverse backgrounds to enhance treatment outcomes. Using an integrative pedagogy, the book helps readers broaden their understanding of co-occurring disorders through case studies, learning objectives, key terms, quiz questions, suggested resources, and references. Co-occurring Mental Illness and Substance Use Disorders will help graduate students in both substance use and mental health counseling make sense of integrative treatment with co-occurring disorders.

Coping Strategies to Promote Mental Health

Training Modules for Occupational Therapists and Other Care Providers

Theresa Straathof

This manual offers care providers a unique combination of evidence-based methods for adult learning and coping strategy development when training clients individually or in groups. The coping strategies are divided into four categories: health and wellness routines, changing the body's response to stress, changing the situation, and changing attitudes. Every module contains a lesson plan, specific learning outcomes, and examples of expected client responses to ensure the learning is taking place. Occupational therapists and other care providers, both novice and experienced, will find this manual useful to improve efficiencies in practice and provision of meaningful teachings.

Creative Engagement in Psychoanalytic Practice

Henry Markman

Series: Relational Perspectives Book Series

This book fills the gaps in current clinical training and theory by highlighting the importance of the analyst's unique voice, creativity, and embodied awareness in authentically relating to patients. Henry Markman provides an integrated approach toward analytic work that focuses on engaged embodied dialogue between analyst and patient, where emotional states are shared in an open circuit of communication as the route to self-discovery and growth. The involvement of the analyst's singular and spontaneous self is crucial. This book will appeal to psychoanalytically oriented clinicians, ranging from those beginning training to the most seasoned practitioners.

Culture, Consolation, and Continuing Bonds in Bereavement

The Selected Works of Dennis Klass

Dennis Klass, Webster University, Missouri, USA

Series: World Library of Mental Health

This book presents Dennis Klass's most important contributions to the scholarship of grief and bereavement, covering more than forty years of study and practice on the forefront our understanding of grief. The writings range widely, including explorations of grief that were missing when Klass began his work, studies of grief across cultures, and analyses of theories that were popular in grief scholarship but inadequately described bereaved parents' experiences. This collection of essays offers an integral understanding of how individuals move through grief and is a valuable addition to the library of anyone working with topics relevant to grieving adults, children, and adolescents.

Family Systems Theory Simplified

Applying and Understanding Systemic Therapy Models

Bethany C. Suppes

Bethany C. Suppes offers a refreshed perspective of Family Systems Therapy (FST), focusing on the importance of understanding its concepts and demonstrating how models of marriage and family therapy can appear practically in counseling. In Part 1, Suppes begins with a theoretical overview of FST, including the history of development, key theorists, and defining core concepts. In Part 2, she focuses on application and explores nine key components of FST, identifying how various systemic therapy models apply these concepts. Primarily written for those having their first exposure to the ideas of FST, it aims to improve the therapeutic process for both therapist and client.

Growing Up Resilient

The Mediation Intervention for Sensitizing Caregivers (MISC)

Edited by Carla Sharp and Lochner Marais, University of the Free State, South Africa

It is universally accepted that sensitive and responsive caregiving leads to positive cognitive and socio-emotional outcomes for children. While several intervention approaches exist, this text brings together the rationale and current evidence base for one such approach—the Mediation Intervention for Sensitizing Caregivers (MISC). Editors bring together in one volume the theory and research from the last decade supporting the MISC approach. Chapters focus on a range of topics, such as: training the trainer, maternal depression and MISC and more.

Handbook of LGBTQ-Affirmative Couple and Family Therapy

Edited by Rebecca Harvey, Megan J. Murphy, Jerry J. Bigner, formerly at Colorado State University, USA and Joseph L. Wetchler, Purdue University, Indiana, USA

A unique and important contribution to LGBTQ literature, this comprehensive second edition to the handbook includes both new and updated chapters reflecting cutting-edge intersectional themes like race, ethnicity, polyamory, and monosexual normativity. A host of expert contributors outline the best practices in affirmative therapy, inspiring therapists to guide LGBTQ clients into deconstructing the heteronormative power imbalances that undermine LGBTQ relationships and families.

The book inspires therapists to utilize clinical work to pragmatically address intersectional oppressions, lessen the burden of minority stress, and implement effective LGBTQ affirmative therapy.

How Psychotherapists Live

The Personal Self and Private Life of Professional Healers

David E. Orlinsky, University of Chicago, Illinois, USA

How Psychotherapists Live is a landmark study of thousands of mental health practitioners worldwide. It significantly advances our understanding of psychotherapists and counselors by revealing the many ways they differ as persons and how those differences shape their experiences of therapeutic work.

Clinical psychologists, psychiatrists, clinical social workers, and counselors can easily compare their own experiences with the thousands of therapists in the study by reflecting on typologies constructed from research findings. The book will also be a valuable resource for researchers studying the sources of variation in therapists' effectiveness.

Madness in Experience and History

Merleau-Ponty's Phenomenology and Foucault's Archaeology

Hannah Lyn Venable

Series: Psychology and the Other

Madness in Experience and History brings together experience and history to show their impact on madness or mental illness. Drawing on the writings of Maurice Merleau-Ponty and Michel Foucault, the author pairs a phenomenological approach with an archaeological approach to present a new perspective on mental illness as an experience that arises out of common behavioral patterns and shared historical structures. Scholars in the humanities and mental health practitioners will appreciate how such an analysis not only offers a greater understanding of mental health, but also a fresh take on discovering value in diverse human experiences.

Metaphysical Dualism, Subjective Idealism, and Existential Loneliness

Matter and Mind

Edited by Ben Lazare Mijuskovic

Series: Philosophy and Psychoanalysis

Since the ages of the Old Testament, the Homeric myths, the tragedies of Sophocles and the ensuing theological speculations of the Christian millennium, the theme of loneliness has dominated and haunted the Western world. In this wide-ranging book, philosopher Ben Lazare Mijuskovic returns us to our rich philosophical past on the nature of consciousness, lived experience, and the pining for a meaningful existence that contemporary social science has displaced in its tendency toward material reduction.

Natural Dualism and Mental Disorder

The Biocognitive Model for Psychiatry

Niall McLaren

This book presents an integrative, dualist model of mental disorder for psychiatry, as a counter to the so-called "biomedical" approach that dominates the field today. Starting with the humanist concept that mental disorder is real, it uses a computational approach to build a genuinely bio-psycho-social model. This shows that mental disorder is primarily psychological in nature, not biological.

This book is written for medical students and recent graduates, for psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and, broadly, anybody with an interest in human affairs, such as philosophy, politics and other related fields.

Navigating Ethical Dilemmas in Creative Arts Therapies

A Case-Based Approach

Edited by Thomson J. Ling and Jessica M. Hauck

Navigating Ethical Dilemmas in Creative Arts Therapies introduces practitioners to and provides practical guidance on the application of the DO ART model, an ethical decision-making model for art therapy. Walking readers through common ethical dilemmas, chapters detail how art making can be used to navigate the model, supporting the well-documented practice of therapists engaging in art making themselves. Topics covered include confidentiality, assessment, storage, materials, multicultural issues, technology, vulnerable populations, supervision, and ethical research. Art therapists at all levels will find this book to be a valuable resource in their practice.

Old and New Horizons of Sandplay Therapy

Mindfulness and Neural Integration

Martin Kalf and Paolo Ferliga
 This thoughtful and comprehensive book sheds new light on Sandplay Therapy, a method founded in the 1960s by Dora Kalf. It is based on the psychology of C.G. Jung and Margaret Lowenfeld, with inspiration from eastern contemplative traditions. This method is effectively used for psychotherapy, psychological counselling and development of the personality with children and adults. An important feature of Sandplay is the possibility to create scenes in a box with sand. Worlds arise through the shaping of the sand and the use of miniatures, humans, animals, trees, etc. These creations manifest inner conflicts as well as untouched healing potential.

Parents as Friendship Coaches for Children with ADHD

A Clinical Guide

Amori Yee Mikami and Sébastien Normand

This book introduces Parental Friendship Coaching (PFC), an intervention that parents can use to support peer relationships in their elementary school-aged children with ADHD. In the PFC program, clinicians work with parents to coach their children with ADHD in friendship behaviors that help develop and maintain high-quality relationships. Featuring ten research-based clinical sessions, the book provides detailed, step-by-step instructions for clinicians about intervention provision. Intended for mental health professionals working with families of children with ADHD and peer problems, this book will aid clinicians in educating parents on how to support their children's friendships.

Perspectives on a Young Woman's Suicide

A Study of a Diary

Edited by John F. Gunn III, Gwynedd Mercy University, Pennsylvania, USA and David Lester, Independent scholar, Delaware, USA

This book is an updated analysis of a diary left behind by "Katie," a young woman who took her own life. Drawing on clinicians, researchers, and survivors of suicide loss, this book delves into common beliefs about why people die by suicide and into the internal worlds of those who do. Contributors discuss Katie's suicide from the perspective of recent theories of suicide, including Joiner's interpersonal theory and Klonsky's three-step theory. Finally, Katie's sister reveals her reactions to this project and her ex-boyfriend shares his account of her death. A vital addition to the library of any researcher, academic, or professional interested in suicide and suicide prevention.

Poetry Therapy

Nicholas Mazza, Florida State University, USA

In this third edition Dr. Mazza expands on poetry therapy applications and techniques, carefully illustrating the use of poems, expressive writing, and symbolic activities for healing. Building on the foundation of poetry therapy, chapters discuss using Mazza's poetry therapy model with individuals, families, and groups. The updated edition covers new research findings and methods and working with special populations such as minorities, those with disabilities, veterans, and the LGBTQ+ community. An invaluable resource for any practitioner, educator, or researcher interested in poetry therapy, bibliotherapy, writing, or the broader area of creative arts and expressive therapies.

Practicing Prodependence

The Clinical Alternative to Codependency Treatment

Robert Weiss and Kim Buck

In Practicing Prodependence Drs. Weiss and Buck present a new social and psychological model of human interdependence-focused treatment for families and loved ones of addicts. This strength and attachment-based model is focused on accepting and celebrating human connection in ways that are healthy and life affirming for each person. Prodependence presents a new paradigm through which loved ones can learn to love more effectively, without bearing shame or judgement. This title will assist counselors, therapists and addiction professionals in improving the ways they treat loved ones of addicts and other troubled people.

Pregnancy-Related Anxiety

Theory, Research, and Practice

Edited by Rachel Dryer, Australian Catholic University, Australia and Robyn Brunton, Charles Sturt University, Australia

Series: Routledge Research in Women's Mental Health

This edited volume provides a collective examination of theoretical, empirical and methodological perspectives regarding pregnancy-related anxiety, a distinct anxiety type experienced by pregnant women. It is organised in three distinct sections. The first section builds a foundational understanding of what pregnancy-related anxiety is before moving on to the next section which considers key clinical issues around its diagnosis and treatment. The final section looks ahead and considers pertinent issues around culture and acculturation.

Projective Identification

A Contemporary Introduction

Robert Waska, Private Practice, San Anselmo, California, USA

Series: Routledge Introductions to Contemporary Psychoanalysis

Waska explores how Projective Identification is the foundation for much of psychic life, driving internal fantasy, influencing interpersonal behavior, and contributing to the transference/countertransference environment. This book contains several case studies which explore and expand on the concepts described and which demonstrate how a psychotherapist can understand, contain and interpret the states patients seek help with. Additionally, this book introduces a clinical technique which is intended to tame the underlying emotional conflicts.

Psychoanalysis, Group Analysis, and Beyond

Towards a New Paradigm of the Human Being

Juan Tubert-Oklander and Reyna Hernández-Tubert

Series: The New International Library of Group Analysis

The origins of psychoanalysis rest in the experience of the individual and their unconscious, but have often ignored the socio-political and cultural context in which the individual lives. This important new collection provides a new paradigm whereby the individual and the group are seen as elements of a wider whole. Split into 3 parts, the book firstly examines Freud's original conceptions of the discipline before discussing group analysis and the concept of the social unconscious. It concludes by bringing these two ideas together to offer a fresh perspective. It will fascinate psychoanalysts and psychotherapists, whether experienced practitioners or students in training.

Psychoanalysis, Culture and Social Action

Act Signatures of the Unconscious

Dieter Flader

Dieter Flader explores how current social and cultural concerns are connected to the unconscious, and how this affects our responses to them. Flader focuses on the role of the ego, assessing how our feelings about these issues in adulthood grow from childhood fears and desires, and integrating the existing psychoanalytic theories of Winnicott, Lacan, Kohut and others with sociological and political theory. The interdisciplinary approach not only analyses current social issues but also generates new perspectives and solutions, and examines examples including climate change, bullying and vegetarianism.

Psychological Type Therapy

A Practitioner's Guide to Strengthening Relationships

Brian A. Gerrard, Western Institute for Social Research, California, USA and Jacqueline Shinefield

This book uses psychological type as a model for organizing mental health interventions, including assessing how a client's personality is affected within a specific relationship. Chapters demonstrate how to help a client overcome a psychological type challenge using techniques drawn from cognitive-behavioral, humanistic, and family therapy approaches. Techniques are described in explicit how-to format and chapters show the reader how to assess both positive and challenging personality characteristics. The text benefits mental health practitioners who are interested in incorporating personality into their practices to develop more effective interventions in relationship therapy.

Psycho-social Explorations of Trauma, Exclusion and Violence

Christopher Scanlon and John Adlam

Series: The New International Library of Group Analysis

The central theme of this book is the operation of intersecting discourses of power, privilege and positioning as they are revealed in fraught encounters between in-groups and out-groups in our deeply fractured world. Written in an engaging and accessible style, Psycho-social Explorations of Trauma, Exclusion and Violence directly addresses pressing global issues of racial trauma, human mobility and climate disaster and offers a manifesto for the creative re-imagining of the places and spaces in which conversations about restructuring and reparation can become sustainable.

Psychotherapy: An Erotic Relationship

Transference and Countertransference Passions

David Mann

Series: Routledge Mental Health Classic Editions

Psychotherapy: An Erotic Relationship challenges the traditional belief that transference and countertransference are merely forms of resistance which jeopardize the therapeutic process. David Mann shows how the erotic feelings and fantasies experienced by clients and therapists can be used to bring about a positive transformation. The book is as relevant now as it was when originally published. This Classic Edition contains a new Introduction by David Mann, summarizing his current ideas since this book was first published in 1997.

Reading Lacan's Écrits

From 'Logical Time' to 'Response to Jean Hyppolite'

Edited by Derek Hook, Associate Professor in Psychology, Duquesne University, USA and Extraordinary Professor in Psychology, University of Pretoria, SA, Calum Neill and Stijn Vanheule, Ghent University and private practice, Belgium

Reading Lacan's Écrits is the first extensive set of commentaries on the complete edition of Lacan's Écrits to be published in English. This third volume constitutes an indispensable companion piece to some of Lacan's most notoriously challenging writings. As there is no existing set of commentaries on Lacan's Écrits available in English, this volume forms an essential reference-text for psychoanalysts and psychoanalytic psychotherapists in training and in practice, philosophers, cultural theorists and literary, social science and humanities researchers.

Reclaiming Lives from Sexual Violence

Understanding Shame through Innovative Narrative Therapy

Tim Donovan, Australia and Dale Johns, Australia

This book demonstrates an innovative approach to using narrative therapy in counselling people who have been subject to childhood sexual abuse. Unique in its approach, it presents an illustrative case of the authors, Tim the therapist in consultation with Dale the client, who was sexually abused as a child by a clergy member. Looking at shame from a position of value awareness, this book extends counselling to consider the individual experience as political; to be shared outside the one-to-one therapy environment in order to challenge the dominant social discourse around masculinity and shame.

Self and Other in an Age of Uncertain Meaning

Communication and the Marriage of Minds

Timothy Stephen

Series: Psychology and the Other

This book explores the nature and origins of widespread problems of self in modern societies. It examines the paradoxical interplay between the modern world's many benefits and freedoms, and its mounting social challenges and psycho-emotional impacts. Chapters analyze the interdependence of language, mind, intimacy, the self, and culture, arguing that as the coevolution of these five factors produced the modern world, many features of contemporary culture have become disruptive to security of being. Rich with examples from everyday experience, this text offers profound insights for those interested in sociology, psychoanalysis, psychology, communication, history, and culture.

The Clozapine Clinic

Health Agency in High-Risk Conditions

Julia Brown

Series: The International Society for Psychological and Social Approaches to Psychosis Book Series

This book is the first ethnography of the little-known world of clozapine clinics in Australia and the United Kingdom. Anthropologist Julia Brown engages with the narratives of people living in extreme health circumstances to challenge some of the assumptions made about clozapine treatment and explore what it means to be diagnosed with 'treatment-resistant schizophrenia'. The Clozapine Clinic particularly highlights the importance of investing in continuity of healthcare and is an essential read for clinical caregivers and those that work with sufferers of psychosis.

The Jouissance Principle

Kant, Sade and Lacan on the Ethical Functioning of the Unconscious

Christian Fierens

This book examines the concept of jouissance, a Lacanian term that refers to enjoyment experienced in different ways, from the enjoyment taken in an action that is ethically disapproved of to the hidden pleasure taken by the patient in and from his symptom. An intriguing discussion of the relationship between pleasure, ethics and rationality, The Jouissance Principle will interest scholars of psychoanalysis and European philosophy, as well as helping clinicians to find a practical and ethical pathway through their practice.

The Self-Restorative Power of Music

A Psychological Perspective

Frank M. Lachmann, New York University, USA

Series: Psychoanalytic Inquiry Book Series

This book explores how we can understand the place of music from a self psychological perspective, by investigating three journeys; the one we take when listening to music, the literal journey of the author from Nazi Germany to the US, and the subjective round-trip between the past and the present.

With clinical excerpts, personal narrative, and sophisticated psychoanalytic insights, this book will appeal to all psychoanalysts wanting to understand the place of music in shaping the psyche, as well as music scholars wishing to gain a deeper appreciation of the psychology of music.

Toward a Feminist Lacanian Left

Psychoanalytic Theory and Intersectional Politics

Alicia Valdés, Rovira I Virgili University, Spain

Series: The Lines of the Symbolic in Psychoanalysis Series

While traditional feminist readings on antagonism have pivoted around the sole axis of sex and/or gender, a broader and intersectional approach to antagonism is much needed; this book offers an innovative, feminist, and discursive reading on the Lacanian concept of Sexual Position as a way to problematize the concepts of political antagonism and political subjects.

The interdisciplinary approach of this book will appeal to scholars interested in the fields of psychoanalysis, feminisms, and political philosophy as well as multidisciplinary scholars interested in discourse theory, sexuality and gender studies, cultural studies, queer theory, and continental philosophy.

Understanding a Child the Occupational Therapy Way

Recognizing and Communicating the Unique Potential of a Child

Sabrina E. Adair

This book uses occupational therapy models to guide the reader towards observing, understanding, and giving a voice to children who have difficulty communicating. Each chapter helps readers identify, describe, and clearly articulate a different aspect of the child's environment and how it may affect them, the way that they process sensory inputs, what their behaviors may be telling us, and how they learn. By recognizing each child's unique story, the reader can identify the most effective ways to support a child to meet a child's needs. Therapists, educators, parents, and childcare workers will all benefit from the simple strategies outlined in this book to enrich a child's learning.

Unlocking the Emotional Brain

Eliminating Symptoms at Their Roots Using Memory Reconsolidation

Bruce Ecker, Coherence Psychology Institute, California, USA, Robin Ticic, Coherence Psychology Institute, North Rhine-Westphalia, Germany and Laurel Hulley, Coherence Psychology Institute, California, USA

Series: Routledge Mental Health Classic Editions

In Unlocking the Emotional Brain, authors Ecker, Ticic and Hulley equip readers to carry out focused, empathic therapy using the process found by researchers to induce memory reconsolidation, the recently discovered and only known process for actually unlocking emotional memory at the synaptic level. The classic edition includes a new preface from the authors discussing advances in the field since the book's initial publication. Readers will learn methods that precisely eliminate unwanted, ingrained emotional responses—whether moods, behaviors or thought patterns—causing no loss of ordinary narrative memory, while restoring clients' well-being.

Vital Flows between the Self and Non-Self

The Interspsychic

Stefano Bolognini

Series: New Library of Psychoanalysis

Vital Flows explores the concept of the Interspsychic, or that which exists in our unconscious or preconscious inter- and intra-human exchanges, and demonstrates its significance for understanding psychoanalytic theory and practice.

As an instructive and topical text which draws meaningfully from Italian, British and North-American psychoanalysis, Vital Flows will be critical for psychoanalysts and psychotherapists alike, as they seek to understand and apply the Inter-psychic within their own practice.

Well-Being in Adolescent Girls

From Theory to Interventions

Elena Savina and Jennifer M. Moran

This book equips school psychologists and other mental health professionals with a comprehensive understanding of mental health and well-being in adolescent girls. It places adolescent girls in a developmental and social-cultural context and outlines factors that can shape their well-being. Chapters include theory-informed and empirically supported interventions to help promote girls' positive physical and socio-emotional development and culminate in a list of recommended resources for the reader. A valuable resource for school psychologists, counselors, and mental health professionals working with adolescents along with those in graduate courses in school psychology and counseling.

What is Paranormal?

Some Implications for Psychological Therapies

Edited by Del Loewenthal, University of Roehampton, UK

This book provides further developments of ideas like Freud's uncanny, Jung's synchronicity, Daniels' transpersonal, Clarke's mindfulness and Sollod's anomalous experiences. The paranormal could be seen as being fundamental to the psychological therapies. The question of the paranormal and the psychological therapies continues to persist, not only for psychoanalysis but the psychological therapies in general. This book attempts to address that.

The chapters in this book, apart from a new introduction and a new chapter, were originally published in the European Journal of Psychotherapy and Counselling

Wild Analysis

From the Couch to Cultural and Political Life

Edited by Shaul Bar-Haim, Elizabeth Sarah Coles and Helen Tyson

Series: New Library of Psychoanalysis 'Beyond the Couch' Series

This book argues that the notion of 'wild' analysis, a term coined by Freud to denote the use of would-be psychoanalytic notions, diagnoses, and treatment by an individual who has not undergone psychoanalytic training, also provides us with a striking new way of exploring the limits of psychoanalysis.

This book will be of interest to researchers, practitioners, and students working across the fields of psychoanalysis, history, literature, culture and politics, and to anyone with an interest in the political import of psychoanalytic thought today.

A Programming Contingency Analysis of Mental Health

Israel Goldiamond

Series: Behavior Science

This book presents Dr. Israel Goldiamond's reflections on various ways we formulate behavioral and emotional problems, most often in traditional terms of mental health disorders, mental diseases or illnesses, psychopathological disorders, and so on – what he calls a pathological orientation. Here, Goldiamond argues for a groundbreaking alternative view from the vantage point of radical behaviorism. It will be a must read for anyone working in the analysis and clinical intervention in problems associated with mental health, or those more generally interested in the work of Israel Goldiamond.

AI vs Humans

Michael W. Eysenck, Emeritus Professor of Psychology in the psychology department at Royal Holloway University of London, UK and Christine Eysenck

The great majority of books on artificial intelligence are written by AI experts who understandably focus on its achievements and potential transformative effects on society. In contrast, AI vs. Humans is written by two psychologists (Michael and Christine Eysenck) whose perspective on AI (including robotics) is based on their knowledge and understanding of human cognition. At a time when human commitment to AI appears unstoppable, this up-to-date book advocates a symbiotic and co-operative relationship between humans and AI. It will be essential reading for anyone interested in AI and human cognition.

Autism Spectrum Disorder in the Criminal Justice System

A Guide to Understanding Suspects, Defendants and Offenders with Autism

Dr Clare S. Allely

This book focuses on autism spectrum disorder (ASD) in the criminal justice system. Rather than being the perpetrators of offending, individuals with ASD are more likely to be the victim of crime. However, there is nevertheless a small subset of individuals with ASD who do offend, and this book provides an in-depth understanding of how certain features of ASD may provide the context of vulnerability to engaging in a number of types of offending behaviours. This book is ideal for criminal defense lawyers and practitioners in psychology, psychiatry, and social work as well as policy makers and reformers.

Child Abuse and Neglect

Monica L. McCoy, Converse College, South Carolina, USA and Stefanie M. Keen, University of South Carolina Upstate, USA

This text examines child abuse and neglect—the latest research, what maltreatment entails, and how to recognize and report it. Different forms of maltreatment—physical abuse, neglect, psychological maltreatment, sexual abuse, fetal abuse, and Munchausen by Proxy Syndrome—are then examined, along with resiliency, in a new chapter to this edition. The text also reviews legal issues and forensic interviewing, and it concludes with what happens to a child after a report is filed along with suggestions for preventing child maltreatment. Engaging learning tools are integrated throughout, including Focus on Research boxes, Case Examples and Debates, and Resource Boxes.

Clinical Cases in Dysarthria

Edited by Margaret Walshe and Nick Miller

Series: Clinical Cases in Speech and Language Disorders

Through the medium of detailed clinical case reports, written by well-respected clinicians and researchers working internationally in the field, Clinical Cases in Dysarthria discusses the challenges, and rewards of applying evidence-based procedures to people with dysarthria in real-life busy routine clinical settings. Each chapter has a specific argument drawing on theoretical principles of assessment and rehabilitation, incorporating latest research evidence. This book will be essential for undergraduate and postgraduate student clinicians within speech and language therapy/pathology courses, as well as clinicians new to the field of dysarthria.

Cognitive Illusions

Intriguing Phenomena in Judgement, Thinking and Memory

Edited by Rüdiger F Pohl, University of Mannheim, Germany

Cognitive Illusions explores a wide range of fascinating psychological effects in the way we think, judge and remember in our everyday lives. In this volume, Rüdiger F. Pohl brings together leading international researchers to define what cognitive illusions are and discuss their theoretical status: are such illusions proof of a faulty human information-processing system, or do they only represent by-products of otherwise adaptive cognitive mechanisms? Demonstrating just how diverse cognitive illusions can be, it is a must read for all students and researchers of cognitive illusions, specifically, those focusing on thinking, reasoning, decision-making and memory.

Cognitive Neuroscience of Language

David Kemmerer, Purdue University, USA

Cognitive Neuroscience of Language provides an up-to-date, wide-ranging, and pedagogically practical survey of the most important developments in the field. After covering background material about the human brain and aphasia syndromes in Parts I-II, chapters in Parts III-VI draw upon prominent theoretical models that characterize particular linguistic domains at both cognitive and neurobiological levels of analysis. In addition, these core chapters illustrate how the different components of the models are supported, and in some cases challenged, by experiments employing diverse brain mapping techniques.

Embodied Trauma and Healing

Critical Conversations on the Concept of Health

Anna Westin

Series: Critical Approaches to Health

What if philosophy could solve the psychological puzzle of trauma? Embodied Trauma and Healing argues just that, suggesting that one might just be needed in order to understand the other. The book demonstrates how the body-mind problem that haunted Descartes was addressed by phenomenologists, whilst also proposing that the human experience is lived subjectively as embodied consciousness. Embodied Trauma and Healing is essential reading for researchers within the fields of philosophy, psychology and medical humanities for it actively engages with contemporary configurations of trauma theory and recent research developments in healing and mental

Embracing Hope After Traumatic Brain Injury

Finding Eden

Michael S. Arthur

Series: After Brain Injury: Survivor Stories

This important book provides a first-hand account from a university professor who experienced traumatic brain injury. It tells the story of Michael Arthur, who had recently accepted a position as vice principal of a new high school. After only two weeks on the job, he was involved in a car accident whilst driving through an intersection in northern Utah.

The book is about finding optimism and gaining insight into the struggles of the brain-injured patient. From the sudden onset of garbled speech, to the challenges of processing information, the changing dynamic of the author's life is highlighted to help family members and healthcare workers better understand.

FINITUDE: The Psychology of Self and Time

Philippe Rochat

Philippe Rochat's FINITUDE is a rumination on time and self-consciousness. It is built around the premise that finitude and separation form the human self-conscious reality of time. It argues that we need to reclaim time from current theories in physics that tend to debunk time as an illusion, or state that time simply does not exist. ## Gender Diversity and Sport

Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Increasing Inclusivity

Edited by Gemma Witcomb and Elizabeth Peel, Professor of Communication and Social Interaction, Associate Pro Vice-Chancellor for Loughborough Doctoral College, Loughborough University

Series: Gender and Sexualities in Psychology

This book explores how gender diversity is experienced and accommodated at varying points in an individual's journey with sport. Taking an interdisciplinary approach, contributions present the background and findings of novel research projects which examine the contemporary place and status of a gender binary in sports and physical activity participation, and critically reflect on how the field theoretically and practically can move beyond this. The book also includes personal accounts from non-binary and transgender athletes around the world from a range of sports, making this fascinating reading for health and sports professionals, academics and students, and athletes themselves.

Girls' Identities and Experiences of Oppression in Schools

Resilience, Resistance, and Transformation

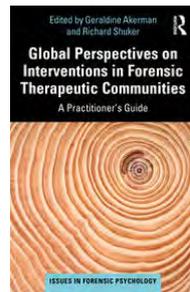

Britney G. Brinkman, Kandie Brinkman and Deanna Hamilton

This book uses a social identity approach to explore how girls navigate oppression within schools, and shows how gender identity, race/ethnicity, social class, sexual orientation, and other aspects of social identity intersect to inform girls' lived experiences. Exploring data collected about girls' experiences over a 15-year period, as well as interviews with educators, the authors outline how girls engage in strategies to enact resilience, resistance, and transformation. This is fascinating reading for professionals such as educators, counsellors, social workers, and policy makers, as well as academics and students in social, developmental, and educational psychology.

Handbook of Operant Behavior

Edited by Werner K. Honig, Dalhousie University and J. E. R. Staddon

Series: Psychology Press & Routledge Classic Editions

This classic edition of The Handbook of Operant Behavior presents seminal work in the field of learning and behavior, foreshadowing a new direction for learning research and raising many still unanswered questions.

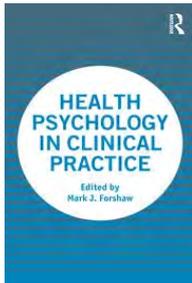

In a newly written introduction, J. E. R. Staddon highlights several issues that deserve more attention: how language is learned, and syntax evolves, how animals choose, and a new paradigm for the study of learning in general. The book will be essential reading for all students and researchers of Learning and Behavior, encouraging researchers to revisit some of the fascinating behavioral questions raised by the original book.

6th Edition

Introduction to Family Processes

Diverse Families, Common Ties

Denise Ann Bodman, Arizona State University, USA, Bethany Bustamante Van Vleet, Arizona State University, USA and Randal D. Day, Brigham Young University, USA

Introduction to Family Processes: Diverse Families, Common Ties serves to provide an explanation of the complex workings of inner family life. The text primarily focuses on family processes and dynamics (the "inside" of families) as opposed to sociological trends, political topics, or the individual psychological approach.

This edition has been updated to include current research and contemporary topics. The text has been divided into four parts and a new chapter, titled "Forgiveness, Kindness, Hope and Gratitude" has been incorporated to amplify positive family processes and highlight emerging research.

Preventing Harmful Behaviour in Online Communities

Censorship and Interventions

Zoe Alderton, University of Sydney, Australia

Preventing Harmful Behaviour in Online Communities explores the ethics and logistics of censoring problematic communications online that might encourage a person to engage in harmful behaviour. Rather than pointing to punishment or censorship as best practice, the book offers constructive guidelines that outline a more holistic approach based on the validity of expressing negative mood and the creation of safe peer support networks, making it ideal reading for professionals protecting vulnerable people, as well as students and academics in psychology, mental health, and social care.

Psychogeography and Psychology

In and Beyond the Discipline

Alex J. Bridger, Division of Psychology and Counselling, University of Huddersfield, UK

Series: Concepts for Critical Psychology

Psychogeography usually refers to radical and artistic ways of walking or to a conflation of psychology with geography. In this unique work, the author makes arguments for considering psychogeography as way to critique the contemporary world and to consider new ways of studying the interface of human beings in environments.

The only book written on psychogeography from a psychological perspective, this book will appeal to researchers and students of psychology, geography, architecture, and cultural studies as well as artists, activists, and the public.

The Myth of Attachment Theory

A Critical Understanding for Multicultural Societies

Heidi Keller

The Myth of Attachment Theory confronts the uncritical acceptance of attachment theory —challenging its scientific basis and questioning the relevance in our modern, superdiverse and multicultural society — and exploring the central concern of how children, and their way of forming relationships, differ from each other. This volume will be a crucial read for scholars and researchers in developmental, educational and clinical psychology, as well as educators, teachers-in-training and other professionals working with children and their families.

The Psychology of Job Interviews

Nicolas Roulin

Most people, at some point in their lives, experience the stress of being interviewed for a job. Many also face the task of interviewing other people. But what does the science tell us about this unique social situation? What biases are involved, and how can we become aware of them? And how can job interviews be structured so that they are fair and effective? Debunking several popular myths along the way, this is essential reading for anyone interested in understanding what is really happening in a job interview, whichever side of the desk you are sitting.

The Reality of Brain Injury

Am I Still Me?

Andrew Tillyard

Series: After Brain Injury: Survivor Stories

A respected medical professional, family man, and keen athlete, Andrew Tillyard had a full and active life until a vehicle crash changed it all. He sustained a serious head injury and was airlifted to the hospital where he worked, having only just survived. In this book, he recounts the raw, uncompromising struggles he faced to rebuild his life. This is essential reading for neuropsychologists, neurologists, and other rehabilitation therapists, as well as students in medicine, nursing, allied health, and neuropsychology. This is also a compelling and compassionate story for anyone who has survived a brain injury.

Handbook of PTSD

Science and Practice

Edited by Matthew J. Friedman, Paula P. Schnurr, Terence M. Keane, Chadi Abdallah and Garrett B. Aikens

Now in an extensively revised third edition with 65% new material, this is the authoritative reference on posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD). Contributors examine the breadth of current knowledge on the mechanisms by which stressful events can alter psychological processes, brain function, and individual behavior. Risk and protective factors across development and in specific populations are explored. Reviewing the state of the science of assessment and treatment, the volume covers early intervention and evidence-based individual, couple/family, and group therapies. Conceptual and diagnostic issues are addressed and key questions for the next generation of researchers are identified.

Lusia Stopa and Judith S. Beck

Richly illustrated with clinical material, this book presents specific techniques for working with multisensory imagery in CBT. Leading researcher-clinician Lusia Stopa explores how mental images—like verbal cognitions—can trigger distress and drive maladaptive behavior. She guides the therapist to assess imagery and help clients to recognize and explore it. A range of interventions are described, including imaginal exposure, imaginal reliving, rescripting, working with self-images, and using positive imagery to improve well-being. Extensive sample dialogues and a chapter-length case example demonstrate the techniques in action with clients with a range of psychological problems.

Assessments of Executive Function and Social-Emotional Competencies

Edited by Stephanie M. Jones, Nonie K. Lesaux, Sophie P. Barnes, Rachel M. Abenavoli and Daniel J. Berry

How can educators determine the most effective approaches for measuring students' social-emotional and self-regulation skills? And how can they use the data to improve their own practice? This book brings together leading experts from multiple disciplines to discuss the current state of measurement and assessment of a broad range of noncognitive skills and present an array of innovative tools. Chapters describe measures targeting the individual student, classroom, whole school, and community; highlight implications for instructional decision making; examine key issues in methodology, practice, and policy; and share examples of systematic school- and district-wide implementation.

How Ambivalence Shapes Your Life

William R. Miller

The rich inner world of a human being is far more complex than either/or. You can love and hate, want to go and want to stay, feel both joy and sadness. A leading world expert on the science of change offers a fresh perspective on ambivalence and its transformative potential in this revealing book. Rather than trying to overcome indecision by force of will, William R. Miller explores what happens when people allow their "inner committee members" to converse freely with each other. Learning to tolerate and even welcome feelings of ambivalence can help people get unstuck from unwanted habits, clarify their values, explore the pros and cons of tough decisions, and open doorways to change.

Moving Beyond Skills and Strategies to Reader-Focused Instruction

Peter Afflerbach

Reading instruction is too often grounded in a narrowly defined "science of reading" that focuses exclusively on cognitive skills and strategies. Yet cognition is just one aspect of reading development. This book guides elementary educators to understand and address other scientifically supported factors that influence each student's literacy learning—metacognition, motivation and engagement, social-emotional learning, self-efficacy, and more. Peter Afflerbach uses classroom vignettes to illustrate concrete suggestions for instruction and assessment. Useful features include end-of-chapter review questions and a downloadable reproducible tool, the Healthy Readers Profile.

Why and How We Become Who We Are

Roy F. Baumeister

The idea of the self is immediately familiar to everyone, yet elusive to define and understand. From pioneering researcher Roy F. Baumeister, this volume synthesizes a vast body of knowledge to provide a panoramic view of the human self—how it develops and functions, why it exists, and what problems it encounters on the journey through life. What are the benefits of self-knowledge, and how attainable is it? Do we have one self, or many? What is the relationship of self and society? In 28 concise chapters, Baumeister explains complex concepts with clarity and insight. He reveals the central role played by the self in enabling both individuals and cultures to thrive.

The Social Psychology of Gender

How Power and Intimacy Shape Gender Relations

Laurie A. Rudman and Peter Glick

Noted for its accessibility, this text—now revised and updated to reflect a decade of advances in the field—examines how attitudes and beliefs about gender profoundly shape all aspects of daily life. From the schoolyard to the workplace to dating, sex, and marriage, men and women alike are pressured to conform to gender roles that limit their choices and impede equality. The text uses real-world examples to explore such compelling questions as where masculine and feminine stereotypes come from, the often hidden ways in which male dominance is maintained, and how challenging conventional romantic ideals can strengthen heterosexual relationships.

What Every Clinician Needs to Know

Russell A. Barkley, PhD, ABPP, ABCN, Clinical Professor of Psychiatry, Virginia Treatment Center for Children and Virginia Commonwealth University School of Medicine, Richmond

From foremost authority Russell A. Barkley, this book presents essential principles and practices for managing attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) in children and teens. Drawing on decades of clinical practice and scientific research, Barkley provides guidelines and clinical tips for conducting thorough assessments and developing science-based treatment plans. The book is grounded in Barkley's theory of ADHD as a disorder of executive functioning and self-regulation. Ways to collaborate successfully with parents and other professionals are highlighted throughout. In a convenient large-size format, the volume includes dozens of reproducible/downloadable handouts and forms.

Component-Based Psychotherapy

Elizabeth K. Hopper, Frances K. Grossman, Joseph Spinazzola, Marla Zucker and Jana Pressley

Grounded in 40 years of clinical practice and research, this book provides a systematic yet flexible evidence-informed framework for treating adult survivors of complex trauma, particularly those exposed to chronic emotional abuse or neglect.

Component-based psychotherapy (CBP) addresses four primary treatment components that can be tailored to each client's unique needs—relationship, regulation, dissociative parts, and narrative. Extended case examples illustrate CBP intervention strategies and bring to life both the client's and therapist's internal experiences. The appendix features a reproducible multipage clinician self-assessment tool that can be downloaded.

The DBT Prolonged Exposure Protocol (DBT PE)

Melanie S. Harned

Many DBT clients suffer from posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), but until now the field has lacked a formal, tested protocol for exactly when and how to treat trauma within DBT. Combining two leading evidence-based therapies—and designed to meet the needs of high-risk, severely impaired clients—this groundbreaking manual integrates DBT with an adapted version of prolonged exposure (PE) therapy for PTSD. The book shows how to implement the DBT PE protocol with clients who have achieved the safety and stability needed to engage in trauma-focused treatment. In a large-size format, it includes session-by-session guidelines, rich case examples, and 35 downloadable handouts and forms.

Validity Assessment in Clinical Neuropsychological Practice

Evaluating and Managing Noncredible Performance

Edited by Ryan W. Schroeder, Phillip K. Martin, Kaley Angers, Patrick Armistead-Jehle and Bradley N. Axelrod

Practical and comprehensive, this is the first book to focus on noncredible performance in clinical contexts. Experts in the field discuss the varied causes of invalidity, how to efficiently incorporate validity tests into clinical evaluations, and how to proceed when noncredible responding is detected. Thoughtful, ethical guidance is given for offering patient feedback and writing effective reports. Population-specific chapters cover validity assessment with military personnel; children; and individuals with dementia, psychiatric disorders, mild traumatic brain injury, academic disability, and other concerns. Case examples and sample reports enhance the book's utility.

Working with Spiritual Struggles in Psychotherapy

From Research to Practice

Kenneth I. Pargament and Julie J. Exline

Does my life have meaning? Does God care about me? Spiritual trials, doubts, or conflicts are often intertwined with mental health concerns, yet many psychotherapists feel ill equipped to discuss questions of faith. From pioneers in the psychology of religion and spirituality, this book combines state-of-the-art research, clinical insights, and vivid case illustrations. It guides clinicians to understand spiritual struggles as critical crossroads in life that can lead to brokenness and decline—or to greater wholeness and growth. Clinicians learn sensitive, culturally responsive ways to assess different types of spiritual struggles and help clients use them as springboards to change.

A Glossary for Doing Postqualitative, New Materialist and Critical Posthumanist Research Across Disciplines

Edited by Karin Murris

Series: Postqualitative, New Materialist and Critical Posthumanist Research

A Glossary for Doing Postqualitative, New Materialist and Critical Posthumanist Research Across Disciplines gives novices and experienced researchers clear and comprehensible introductions to theories, paradigm shifts and key concepts in postqualitative, feminist new materialist and critical posthumanist research. The Glossary is an accessible and introductory guide for novice qualitative researchers, and of use to established academics already working with post-qualitative approaches. It is an indispensable companion to the primary texts and original sources by theorists discussed in this and other books in the series.

An Autoethnography of African American Motherhood

Things I Tell My Daughter

Renata Harden Ferdinand

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic Narratives

This is the first full-length explicitly identified autoethnographic text on African American motherhood. It shows the lived experiences of Black motherhood, when mothering is shaped by race, gender and class, and mothers must navigate not only their own, but also their children's positions in society. As an interdisciplinary text, this book will be reading for academics and students in a broad range of fields, including Education, African American Studies, Communication Studies, Women Studies, Psychology and Health Studies. It is also a handbook of lived experience for Black mothers, grandmothers, and daughters.

An Autoethnography of Fitting In

On Spinsterhood, Fatness, and Backpacker Tourism

Phiona Stanley

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic Narratives

An Autoethnography of Fitting In: On Spinsterhood, Fatness, and Backpacker Tourism is a feminist narrative about the social rules of obedience and acquiescence to the norm – fatness, heteronormativity, partnering – and about fitting in, or not, with those narratives. Framed through reflexive autoethnography, with a strong focus on ethics and feminist theories, this book will appeal to students and researchers in autoethnography, qualitative methods, and gender and women's studies.

Collaborative Spirit-Writing and Performance in Everyday Black Lives

Bryant Keith Alexander and Mary E. Weems

Series: Qualitative Inquiry and Social Justice

This book is a dialogic engagement that draws upon shared lived experiences, hopes and fears of two Black people. It shows that collaborative writing can have knowledge-making and knowledge-transforming effects, since it allows humans to externalize their thinking in forms that are easier to reflect on and potentially rework. With particular emphasis on the confluence of Race, Racism, Antiracism, Black Lives Matter, the Trump administrative and the Coronavirus pandemic, this book will appeal to students and scholars in Race studies, performance studies and those who practice qualitative methods as a new way of seeking Black social justice.

Evocative Qualitative Inquiry

Writing and Research Through Embodiment and the Poetic

Joanne Yoo

Series: Developing Traditions in Qualitative Inquiry

Evocative Qualitative Inquiry explores academic research that evokes vitality and life. It provides a road map into integrating the personal with professional to engage in intrinsically meaningful forms of inquiry. It relates the challenges that may arise from following this less trodden academic inquiry path. It conveys the importance of faith and courage in forging one's own unique and authentic writing voice. This book will be a valuable guide for those seeking evocative writing techniques to engage in vibrant forms of academic research. It is primarily written for academics who desire to learn more about creative, poetic, and embodied writing methodologies.

Facilitating Community Research for Social Change

Case Studies in Qualitative, Arts-Based and Visual Research

Edited by Casey Burkholder, Funké Aladejebi and Joshua Schwab-Cartas

This book examines a number of research case studies in different methodological contexts to explicate the widely discussed but undertheorized issue of research facilitation. The chapters investigate research facilitation in ways that specifically attempt to disrupt and challenge anti-Indigenous and anti-Black racism, ableism, heteronormativity homophobia, transphobia, patriarchy, and sexism in an effort to work toward social change. This book will appeal to researchers and postgraduate students in Education and the social sciences who are interested in facilitating ethically sound, social justice-based research.

Knowledge Production in Material Spaces

Disturbing Conferences and Composing Events

Nikki Fairchild, Carol A. Taylor, Angelo Benozzo, Neil Carey, Mirka Koro and Constance Elmenhorst

Knowledge Production in Material Spaces is a curation of the interventions that the authors undertook at a range of academic conferences since 2016. It problematizes disciplined practices and expectations governing academic conference spaces and generates new ways of thinking and doing conferences otherwise. The authors use posthuman, feminist materialist and post-qualitative theories to disrupt knowledge production in neoliberal and bureaucratic conference spaces. This book will appeal to audiences ranging from established professionals to early career scholars, doctoral and master's students in Education and the social sciences.

Philosophical Mentoring in Qualitative Research

Collaborating and Inquiring Together

Edited by Kelly W. Guyotte and Jennifer R. Wolgemuth

This book looks at the ways that mentoring relationships can become a practice of philosophy. By looking at mentoring experiences and relationships through a new materialist framework, the chapters highlight the intrinsically relational nature of mentoring. Through that relationality, mentoring practices can disrupt and push against hierarchies, boundaries, normativity, authority and power. This is increasingly important as mentoring roles come to prominence in a neoliberal academic environment. Suitable for students and researchers in qualitative research and higher education interested in mentoring practice and humanistic research values.

Narrating Estrangement

Autoethnographies of Writing Of(f) Family

Edited by Lisa P. Z. Spinazola and David F. Purnell

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic Narratives

The stories in Narrating Estrangement: Autoethnographies of Writing Of(f) Family demonstrate the pain, anguish, and even relief felt by those who contemplate estranging or who are estranged, whether by choice or circumstance. Each contributor uses the act of storytelling and the autoethnographic mode of scholarship and writing to find clarity in their individual, unique, and complex situations. This book adds to the ongoing scholarly conversations about family estrangement for students and researchers interested in autoethnography and qualitative inquiry, in a wide range of disciplines in the social sciences, healthcare, and communication studies.

Questions in Qualitative Social Justice Research in Multicultural Contexts

Anna Cohen Miller and Nettie Boivin

This book provides a framework of questions that enable researchers to engage with and reflect on their multicultural qualitative work. It provides models for doing this by giving an overview of the literature, examining research principles, and case studies from the field. Each chapter provides a detailed description of the topic, sample field research and reflective questions to guide students' own work. Drawing from critical theoretical perspectives in the fields of anthropology and education, the authors highlight the role that power plays in all our interactions. This book is suitable for students and postgraduate researchers of the social sciences.

Recovering Black Storytelling in Qualitative Research

Endarkened Storywork

S.R. Toliver

Series: Futures of Data Analysis in Qualitative Research

This research-based book foregrounds Black narrative traditions and honors alternative methods of data collection, analysis, and representation. Toliver presents a semi-fictionalized narrative in an alternative science fiction setting, refusing white-centric qualitative methods and honoring the ways of the griots who were the scholars of their African nations. It will be an important text for new and seasoned researchers interested in social justice. Informed and anti-racist researchers will find endarkened storywork a useful tool for educational, cultural, and social critiques now and in the future.

Semantic Network Analysis in Social Sciences

Edited by Elad Segev

This text focuses on methods for large-scale textual data analysis, e.g. social media data. Traditional methods for text analysis require a considerable amount of human resources and time and are limited to small samples of text. There is thus a growing demand among scholars for new and cutting-edge methods to organize, identify patterns and structures, and understand the meanings of this massive information. Covering a variety of quantitative and qualitative methods, this book will help students and researchers in the social sciences, political science and communication studies develop their skills in network and text analysis, data science and big data analysis.

Situational Analysis in Practice

Edited by Adele E. Clarke, Rachel Washburn and Carrie Friese

Situational Analysis (SA) creates analytic maps of social processes and relationships identified using approaches pioneered in grounded theory. Creator of the method, award-winning sociologist Adele E. Clarke, with Rachel Washburn and Carrie Friese, shows how the method can be, and has been, used in a variety of critical qualitative studies. Situational Analysis in Practice will be of interest to undergraduate and graduate students practicing the SA method across the social sciences, including sociology and healthcare amongst other disciplines, as well as research scholars interested in qualitative inquiry.

The Routledge Handbook for Advancing Integration in Mixed Methods Research

Edited by John H. Hitchcock and Anthony J. Onwuegbuzie

This handbook reviews different mixed methods and integration ideas with contributions from scholars across the globe, accelerating discussion of mixed and integrated methods across a broad range of disciplines, including education, arts-based analyses, health research, and work in developing nations, as well as via special topics such as psychometrics and media research. The authors encourage and guide integration by updated design thinking, and presentation of analytic models and software.

The Routledge International Handbook of Practice-Based Research

Edited by Craig Veer

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This Handbook provides readers with an overview of the field of Practice-Based Research (PBR): different approaches, disciplines that frequently employ PBR, methodologies and creative outputs. It gives guidance and exemplars of the way PBR is carried out, including both within academic study and through 'practitioner voice' case studies and examples. It takes a wide-ranging view of the field, including both the more established use of PBR in the creative arts, as well as fields in which PBR is emerging, such as Education, and digital art and technology.

Transnational Black Feminism and Qualitative Research

Black Women, Racialization and Migration

Tanja J. Burkhard

Series: Developing Traditions in Qualitative Inquiry

Transnational Black Feminism and Qualitative Research invites readers to consider what it means to conduct research within their own communities by interrogating local and global contexts of colonialism, race, and migration. This short and accessible book is ideal for qualitative researchers, graduate students, and feminist scholars interested in the various dimensions of racialization, coloniality, language, and migration.

Unpacking Sensitive Research

Epistemological and Methodological Implications

Edited by Erica Borgstrom, Open University, UK, Sharon Mallon, Open University, UK and Sam Murphy, Open University, UK

This book is a collective endeavour to reflect on research practices around 'sensitive research', providing in-depth explorations about what this label means to different researchers, how it is done – including the need to be sensitive as a researcher – and what impacts this has on methods and knowledge creation.

The chapters in this book were originally published in the International Journal of Social Research Methodology and the journal Mortality

Writing Feminist Autoethnography

In Love With Theory, Words, and the Language of Women Writers

Elizabeth Mackinlay

Writing Feminist Autoethnography explores the personal-is-political relationship between autoethnography and feminist theory and practice. This book will define and conceptualize feminist autoethnography for all qualitative researchers, especially those interested in critical autoethnography, and scholars in gender studies and communication.
